H. H. THE NIZAM'S GUARANTEED STATE RAILWAY Co., Ld.

ADVERTISING AT RAILWAY STATIONS.

THE PROPRIETOR of the Bombay Gazette Press, having leased from the NIZAM'S STATE RAILWAY COMPANY the exclusive right of advertising at all the Railway Stations belonging to the Company, is prepared to contract with parties desirous of posting notices or advertisements on the lines.

The Cantonment of SECUNDERABAD, as is well known, contains the largest military garrison in India—a garrison comprising over 5,000 British and native troops. Contiguous to it is the Cantonment of BOLARUM, garrisoned by two regiments and one battery of the Hyderabad Contingent, all officered by Europeans. South of Secunderabad, about 4 miles, are the suburbs of Hyderabad, containing the Nizam's regular troops, about 5,000 in number, officered mostly by Europeans—besides a large civil population. It would manifestly be advantageous to firms to advertise at the stations on the above railway, the most important of which are SECUNDERABAD, HYDERABAD, GANGAVARUM, and TANDUR.

The announcements may be in English or in any of the NATIVE LANGUAGES.

INSURANCE COMPANIES, SHIPPING COMPANIES, HOTEL-KEEPERS, MERCHANTS, TRADERS, and others who wish to force their business on the notice of the public, all alike value the privilege of Railway Station Advertising.

There is no reason why the privilege should not be also specially valuable to Advertisers in India looking to the great and increasing number of Native Railway Passengers on the two trunk lines in Western India. Native Merchants, Traders, &c., seeing that they have the privilege of advertising in their own language would find the publication of their announcements at Railway Stations an invaluable means of extending their business.

Advertisers can select the Station at which they wish their Placards posted, and may advertise for any period that may be agreed on. The charge have been fixed on an extremely moderate scale to encourage Advertisers to make a liberal use of this new means now offered of making announcements known to the public.

Placards, according to the taste of Advertisers, may be printed at moderate charge in ENGLISH any of the NATIVE LANGUAGES at the Bombay Gazette Press. Estimates on application.

RATES.

Board not exceeding 4 feet long and 4 feet Broad Re. 1 per month. For every additional square foot annas 2.

Thus a firm exhibiting a board, say 4 square feet will have the advantage of having their business advertisement read by thousands of Passengers on one station platform for the trifling monthly expenditure of Re. 1. Parties advertising on six Stations or more will be allowed a discount of ten per cent., twelve Stations or more, twenty-five per cent.

The boards to be delivered at the Bombay Gazette Office, whence they will be sent by the Company to the various stations selected by the Advertiser. In the event of the contract terminating, the boards will be brought back to Bombay at the expense and risk of the Advertiser.

Special arrangements for long periods.

For further particulars apply to the Manager of the "Bombay Gazette" Office, Esplanade Road, Fort.

The most wonderful Pills in the world for Biliousness and all Disorders of the Liver, Stomach, and Bowels. Their action is mild yet effectual ; they do not gripe or purge, and for habitual costiveness, loss of appetite, disturbed sleep, harassing dreams, wind, indigestion, sick headache, furred tongue, unpleasant taste in the mouth on rising in the morning, sallowness, scurvy, &c., they are of unexampled efficacy ; and being prepared solely from the vegetable kingdom, may be taken by the most delicate of either sex, equally with the robust, merely regulating the dose according to the printed directions accompanying each box.

Those who are subject to occasional attacks of Biliousness instead of resorting to the old-fashioned blue pill and nauseous black draught, will do well to keep a box of these Pills by them, and never leave home without them : an attack may thus be nipped in the bud by taking a dose or two, which, if allowed to run its course for a few days, would probably almost completely prostrate its unhappy victim. Sold in boxes at 1s. 1 d, 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s.

DR. DE ROOS'
WORLD-FAMED
GUTTÆ VITÆ,
OR LIFE DROPS.

The Great European Remedy for Spermatorrhœa, Exhaustion, Nervousness, Debility, Incapacity, Loss of Memory, and all those dis eases for which Mercury, Sarsaparilla, &c., are not only employed in vain, but too often to the utter destruction of the sufferer's health. To the people of India, and similar enervating climates, as also all those who by indiscretion in early life, have ruined their constitutions, this miraculous life-reviving tonic will give, as it were, a new existence. This medicine strengthens the vitality of the whole system, gives energy to the muscles, speedily removes nervous fears, renovates the impaired powers of life, and gradually invigorates the most shattered constitution. Equally adapted for the studious and sedentary ; the aged and infirm ; the nervous and debilitated ; as also for delicate females and weakly children. All sufferers from loss of appetite, nervous headache, lassitude, and despondency—too often accompanied with suicidal thoughts—should make immediate and fair unprejudiced trial of this wonderful medicine, which is daily effecting the most remarkable cures in patients who had been given up by the faculty. In all cases of nervous and functional debility (arising from whatever cause), it is truly unrivalled. To married persons especially, this preparation will prove invaluable, giving strength and vigour in place of lassitude and incapacity.—Price, 11s., or four times that quantity, 33s. per bottle, of all the principal Merchants in India.

Purchasers are particularly requested to see that every package of Dr. De Roos' Medicines bears the British Government Stamp, with the words, "WALTER DE ROOS, LONDON," impressed thereon in white letters on a red ground, without which none can possibly be genuine.

EYESIGHT!

THE necessity for proper testing of the sight before ordering Spectacles cannot be overrated. We have the highest medical authority confirmed by daily experience that imperfect glasses, together with the haphazard plan of selection generally employed, are frequent causes of irremediable injury to the sight, and as no present economy can compensate for such a loss, it behoves all to be cautious how they are tempted to use the common Spectacles now so generally sold by those who keep an ill-assorted collection just to complete a miscellaneous stock.

We make this department of our business a speciality, and we claim to have the largest and most complete stock in India. Our Opticians being thoroughly practical men, we can guarantee the correction of the defects and irregularities of the sight by optical means.

DR. A. MENIST'S PERFECT PEBBLES

Have always been and always are by a very long way the best procurable, and owing to the present favorable rate of exchange, we have been able to reduce their prices, which though very little in advance of other Houses the slightly extra cost is more than compensated for by their superiority and perfection.

It is well known to us from experiments that a great deal of discomfort must arise from the use of spectacles with ill-fitting frames, for instance a pair of lenses in frames a little too wide or a little too narrow would compel the patient to look through the inner or outside sides of the lenses or through their prisms instead of through their centre and which must necessitate a call upon the convergence muscles for increased effort at a time when the accommodation muscles are relaxed. This cannot but be a source of discomfort at all times and a source of danger to the eyes. Several instances have been known in which discomfort in wearing spectacles has been removed as soon as lenses of the same power were put into frames adopted to the requirements of the wearer.

Every precaution is taken by us to supply not only the best lenses procurable but also to supply frames in which the lenses are so placed as to make the wearing of spectacles a pleasure.

Information was received by them that the accused was selling the goods and stones at several outstations. The fugitive was taken into custody whilst endeavouring to sell the stones. This firm are also the largest makers of fire hose and their annual production of beltings is about 3,500,000 and that of fire hose 4,500,000. When in America Mr. Reddaway started a large mill for the purpose of manufacturing fire hose and belting this mill has already commenced to work. Messrs. Reddaway and Co., have appointed Messrs. ENTERPRISING PARSEE SWIMMERS.—Messrs. Both gentlemen are splendid swimmers, and have undertaken this feat for no stake, but purely with a view of testing their prowess. The distance they have to swim is really a long one, and one that has not yet accomplished in Bombay nor in the whole of India and the success of such an achievement will reflect credit on the actors and prove that we have in India good swimmers. Originally it was contemplated to swim from Coorla to Bombay, but being informed by experienced pilots of the Bombay Harbour, that there are dangerous fishes to be met with between that place and Bombay, which have occasioned disastrous accidents, a change of course has been made in conformity with their suggestions.

THEFT OF CURRENCY NOTES.

RAMA Govind and Shaik Cassum Shaik Ali two peons, in the Customs service, were yesterday charged before Mr. Richardson, at the Esplanade Police Court, by Superintendent MacDermott, the first accused with the theft of currency notes, of the value of Rs. 1,209, and the second prisoner with abetment and receiving the stolen property. From the evidence of the prosecution, which was undertaken on the direction from the Collector of Customs, the prisoners it appeared stopped a tindal, named Nagoo, on the night of the 19th instant, whilst he was proceeding home after landing at the Mallet Bunder. On the peons searching his person they found the currency notes and cash for the amount named concealed in his clothes. They accused him of coming by the money dishonestly. This allegation the complainant flatly denied, and stated that it was the proceeds of the sale of his cargo. The tindal was reluctantly compelled to go home without his money, having been directed to call for it the following morning as the prisoners then doubted the truth of his statement. The next morning the prisoners pretended to have forgotten what had passed on the previous night, and refused to produce either notes or cash. The matter was reported by the complainant to Mr. J. Britto, Preventive Officer, who on making enquiries found the sum of Rs. 1,024 in the possession of the second prisoner, while notes to the amount of Rs. 110 were taken from a brother of Rama Govind. Both the delinquents were accordingly placed before the Collector of Customs who directed the Superintendent to place the matter before a Magistrate. The prisoner's plea of defence was that they had not stolen the money, but had found it on the Bunder, where it had been dropped on Wednesday night by the tindal who was under the influence of liquor at the time. Both, however, admitted having failed in their duty in not having made over the money to their superior officers. His Worship convicted them and sentenced Rama to undergo eighteen months' hard labour. His accomplice Shaik Cassum received a sentence of six months' rigorous imprisonment. On the latter, who was an aged man, hearing his sentence he fainted in the dock.

THE SUIT AGAINST THE SIRDAR DILAR JUNG.

THE Deccan Standard gives the text of the plaint which was been filed in the Bombay High Court by the Government of Hyderabad against Abdul Huq :—

ORDINARY ORIGINAL CIVIL JURISDICTION

Between the State of Hyderabad.....Plaintiff

and

Sirdar Diler-ul-Mulk, otherwise called Sirdar Dilar Jung, otherwise called Syed Abdul Huq, residing at Sirdar's Mansions, in the Town of Bombay, and also carrying on business in Bombay aforesaid as an Hotel-keeper, Bahadur, Companion of the Indian Empire, formerly Secretary in the Home Department and Director of Railways and Mines of the Hyderabad State aforesaid.....Defendant.

The Plaintiff State abovenamed states as follows :—

1. In or about the month of September 1881 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-one) the Defendant who was then a Servant of the Plaintiff State came to Bombay and entered into communication with certain persons including one Paul Mowis respecting a scheme thereafter known and hereinafter referred to as the "Chanda Railway Scheme" for the purchase by a Company of the then existing State Railway for the sum of 2 (two) crores of rupees and the construction by the same Company of a new line from Hyderabad to Chanda the Plaintiff State guaranteeing interest for 5 (five) years at 4 (four) per centum per annum the amount to be paid to the Company to the Plaintiff State at the close of that period. An important part of this scheme was the grant of a monopoly of mining rights in the Dominions of the Plaintiff State as being a main inducement to the Promoters to undertake the construction of the Railway on such terms and the Defendant assured them he had sufficient influence to obtain the concessions necessary to the effectual carrying out of the said scheme including the said monopoly of mining rights if sufficient gain and profit were secured to him personally.

2. Subsequently, and on or about the 25th (twenty-fifth) September 1881 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-one) certain of the said persons interviewed the Defendant at Hyderabad and the Defendant promised to obtain the said concessions on the following terms :—

(1). That the Promoters should give the Defendant 1¼ (one and a half) per cent. on the whole of the capital for the construction of the line.

(2). That one of the said persons named Hawes should receive a concession for the said monopoly of mining rights for 30 (thirty) years from the Nizam's Government on a nominal royalty of £1,000 (one thousand pounds) per annum.

(3). That the Defendant should get a six anna or a six-sixteenth share in the concession.

3. On or about the 5th (fifth) October 1881 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-one), one Charles Albert Winter an Attorney prepared, as regards the Railway forming part of the "Chanda Railway Scheme" a draft agreement addressed to the Defendant which was signed by the said Hawes and of which the terms were as follows :—

(1). The line to be constructed and worked by a Company to be formed in England.

(2). 1¼ (one and a half) per cent. to be paid to the Defendant upon the capital as and when it should be paid.

3. The preliminary agreement to be between the Plaintiff States and the said Albert Charles Winter on behalf of the Promoters.

(4). On the 7th (seventh) of October 1881 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-one), the Defendant verbally laid before Sir Salar Jung, the Elder, then Prime Minister of the Plaintiff State at a private interview at Hyderabad the outlines of the said "Chanda Railway Scheme," but carefully suppressed and concealed from him the terms which the Defendant had made for his own personal gain and profit as hereinbefore mentioned, and so far favourably impressed the said Sir Salar Jung with the said scheme that he authorized the Defendant to conduct the negotiations with the said persons and others who from time to time were interested as Promoters of the said scheme and were represented as the Bombay Syndicate, on behalf of the Plaintiff State as its Agent and deputed him forthwith to go to Bombay to carry on such negotiations as such Agent as aforesaid, it being represented to the said Sir Salar Jung by the Defendant that the grant to the proposed Company of a monopoly of mining rights was a sine qua non of the "Chanda Railway Scheme" which as then put forward offered great advantages to the Plaintiff State. The said Sir Salar Jung, the Elder, also at the same time laid down certain rules under which only he would permit negotiations to be carried on, on behalf of the Plaintiff State. The said rules provided, among other things, that no step in the matter from first to last should be taken without the full knowledge and concurrence of the British Government and its representatives.

5. The Defendant accepted the said Agency and thereafter secretly informed the said Paul Mowis that the said 1¼ (one and a half) per cent. commission on the capital required for construction was insufficient and was thereupon informed that the matter would be satisfactorily arranged at Bombay.

6. The Defendant as such Agent as aforesaid then proceeded to Bombay and there on or about the 19th (nineteenth) October 1881 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-one), at a meeting of the Defendant, the said Paul Mowis, Hawes, and Charles Albert Winter and one Barnet it was agreed that the Defendant should receive an increased commission of 2½ (two and a half) per cent. upon the said capital required for construction and a draft at six months for that amount was then made out and it was further expressly agreed that the Defendant should as regards the said mining concession have a six anna share thereof as previously stipulated for by him.

7. The provisions made for giving any percentage to the Defendant on the Railway part of the "Chanda Railway Scheme" and a share in the mining concession forming the other part of the said scheme were concealed from the said Sir Salar Jung from the Plaintiff State and from the British Government and its representatives.

8. The said Barnet and the said Charles Albert Winter were at the last mentioned time in communication with, amongst other persons in England, one William Clarence Watson, a brother-in-law of the said Charles Albert Winter, who it was proposed should be interested with the said Bombay Syndicate in the said "Chanda Railway Scheme."

9. Shortly before the said Charles Albert Winter left Bombay for England which he did on the 19th (nineteenth) January 1882 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-two,) in connection with the said "Chanda Railway Scheme" the proposed share of the Defendant in the said contemplated Mining Concession was reduced from six annas to four.

10. In afterwards reporting what had been done in Bombay to the said Sir Salar Jung, the Defendant stated that he had remained there for twenty days labouring to settle terms which should be satisfactory to all parties concerned, but whilst formulating under twelve heads what had been agreed to he made no mention of the terms which he had made for his own personal advantage as regards the said "Chanda Railway Scheme." On the contrary, the Defendant on the 23th (twenty-eighth) December 1881 (One thousand eight hundred and eight-one), had prevailed upon the said Sir Salar Jung to authorise him to receive 5 (five) per cent. on the amount of the said purchase money Rupees 2 (two) crores, and to appropriate it in any manner, he, the Defendant, might think proper in rewarding the services of those who had been or might be instrumental in promoting the said "Chanda Railway Scheme," and in carrying it through. And it is alleged by the Defendant but not admitted by the Plaintiff State that in the month of January 1883 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-three), the said Sir Salar Jung made a certain pencil note upon a memo. of the Defendant dated the 1st (first) of January 1883 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-three), which note appears to be in the terms following :—"You can yourself appropriate the whole of the commission agreed upon as remuneration of your good and valuable services but this is secret." The Defendant alleges that he was so instructed to keep the terms of this note secret lest the publication thereof should have the effect of increasing the payment to the Promoters. But the Plaintiff State alleges that if the said note be genuine and written by the said Sir Salar Jung which as aforesaid is not admitted the terms thereof did not refer to the said Commission agreed to be paid on the capital required for the construction of the said line or to the share in the said concession agreed to be given to the Defendant as hereinbefore mentioned, any such agreement or terms being unknown to the said Sir Salar Jung, but the said note referred only to the said Commission of 5 (five) per cent. upon the said purchase money rupees 2 (two) crores, which the said Sir Salar Jung as in this paragraph is above stated had authorised the Defendant to receive and in consequence of which authority the Defendant did, on the 30th (thirtieth) January 1884 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-four), obtain payment out of moneys of the Plaintiff State of a sum of £83,333-6-0 (eighty-three thousand three hundred and thirty-three pounds and six shillings) the same being the equivalent at the rate of exchange of the day of 5 (five) per centum on the aforesaid purchase money rupees 2 (two) crores.

11. In the month of January 1882 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-two), the Defendant who was deputed by the said Sir Salar Jung to go to Calcutta to lay the "Chanda Railway Scheme" before the Government of India received as is alleged by him from the said Sir Salar Jung a letter of which the following is a copy :—

"Private and Confidential."
"The Nizam's Government.
Hyderabad (Deccan), 5th January, 1882.

"My Dear Syed Abdul Huq,

I have no doubt His Highness' Government will appreciate at their full value the services you have rendered in originating and maturing the Chanda Railway Scheme when it is carried through : but as the work you are doing is outside your official capacity and your services to the promoters of the scheme will have been just as valuable as to His Highness' Government in case of the scheme being carried through ; I write a line to assure you that I shall have no objection to your receiving any remuneration on the Railway and Mining schemes with which they may reward your services and that I shall consider whatever you receive from them as merely your due.—I am yours sincerely.

(Sd.) SALAR JUNG."

The Defendant thereupon proceeded by way of Bombay to Calcutta and there laid the said "Chanda Railway Scheme" before the Government of India who on the 17th (seventeenth) February 1882 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-two), rejected it. Amongst the reasons for this rejection were firstly that it was impracticable, secondly that the proposed Mining Concession was too wide both as regards time and area, and thirdly because the Bombay Syndicate were not of a sufficient financial position to secure the fulfilment of their obligations. The said Government suggested that the Plaintiff State should consult their London Agents Messrs. Rothschilds on the subject of possible Railway extension in the Dominions of the Plaintiff State.

12. Thereupon the Defendant was deputed to go and went to England as the Agent of the Plaintiff State to negotiate with Messrs. Rothschilds, and if necessary with others under the instructions given to him by the said Sir Salar Jung by a letter of the 31st (thirty-first) March 1882 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-two,) a copy of which is hereunto annexed and marked A.

13. With regard to the Mining Monopoly, the said Sir Salar Jung as the Defendant was then informed did not wish to sanction such a general mining monopoly as had been first proposed as part of the "Chanda Railway Scheme" but was prepared to grant a concession with regard to mines already known or registered.

14. On the arrival in England the Defendant in the first place obtained formal approval from the Secretary of State for India in Council of his aforesaid instructions and authority to proceed subject to certain conditions laid down in a letter dated the 24th (twenty-fourth) May 1882 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-two), a copy whereof is hereunto annexed and marked B. Thereupon he put himself in communication with the said Messrs. Rothschilds, but their terms exceeding his instructions he applied to others.

15. On the 16th (sixteenth) October 1882 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-two), Messrs Morton Rose and Co., submitted their first proposal to the Defendant in respect of that part of the "Chanda Railway Scheme" which related to the Railway alone which thenceforth was kept entirely separate from the question of granting any Mining Concession and on the 6th (sixth) September 1882 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-two), the said Messrs. Morton Rose and Co., submitted a formal proposal based on the said Bombay Syndicate with a guarantee of interest at 5 (five) per centum per annum for 25 (twenty-five) years in lieu of the Mining Concession coupled with a shorter guarantee at a lower rate thus suggesting the imposition upon the Plaintiff State of a liability of £4,900,000 (four millions nine hundred thousand pounds) in lieu of £830,000 (eight hundred thousand pounds) and the concession of the then suggested Mining Monopoly.

16. On the 25th (tenth) October 1882 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-two), the said Sir Salar Jung telegraphed his refusal of the terms mentioned in the preceding paragraph upon amongst other grounds that "the divorce" thereby affected of the Railway part of the "Chanda Railway Scheme" from the Mining part of the said scheme neutralized the positive advantages presented by them in combination to the Plaintiff State.

17. On the 10 (tenth November 1882 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-two), the said Messrs. Morton Rose and Co., submitted a further and a modified proposal which was approved of by the Plaintiff State for the formation of a Company upon the basis of a 5 (five) per cent. guarantee for 25 (twenty) years with a provision for the re-payment thereof by the appropriation of half the nett earnings of the Company in excess of 5 (five) per centum per annum.

18. Although the grant of any Mining Concession had by reason of the elimination of all questions relating thereto from the Railway scheme formulated by Messrs. Morton Rose and Co., become unnecessary for the effectuating of that scheme yet the possibility of obtaining a Mining Monopoly in the Dominions of the Plaintiff State presented attractions to financiers in London. According the said W. C. Watson and one John Stewart since deceased in concert with and through the Defendant laid before the said Sir Salar Jung a proposal for the grant of a Mining Concession and the formation in London of a Company to work the same. This proposal, copy whereof is hereunto annexed and marked C, dated 7th (seventh) November 1882 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-two) was the result of a corrupt bargain between the said W. C. Watson and J. Stewart and the defendant in or about the preceding month of September whereby without the knowledge of the Plaintiff State or the said Sir Salar Jung and on misrepresentations of the Defendant's interest it was agreed that the Defendant should have a quarter share in any concession which might be granted to the said Messrs. Watson and Stewart following upon the said proposal in consideration of the Defendant undertaking to use his influence with the said Sir Salar Jung and to do his utmost to obtain for them the grant of such concession. The said proposal provided, amongst other things, that the said W. C. Watson and J. Stewart should be at liberty to form a limited liability Company in London with a capital of not less than £1,000,000 (one million pounds) with power to increase the capital by an issue of debentures or otherwise if necessary and to transfer to such Company all or any of the rights, privileges and obligations of the Concessionnaires and such Company when incorporated was to undertake the expenditure of £100,000 (one hundred thousand pounds) in the development and carrying out of the mines, minerals and other objects and purposes of the concession and to take the place of the said W. C. Watson and Stewart who thereupon were to be free from all further responsibility and that either after the 30th (thirtieth) April 1883 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-three), or on the production of the certificates of Incorporation of the Company and on the demand of the said W. C. Watson and J. Stewart the securities deposited (which amounted to £100,000) (one hundred thousand pounds) were to be returned to them.

19. The Defendant returned to Hyderabad on the 10 (tenth) January 1883 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-three), the said Sir Salar Jung on behalf of the Plaintiff State in entire ignorance of such corrupt bargain, or of any underhand dealing by the Defendant by a Memorandum of that date, copy whereof is hereunto annexed and marked D. sanctioned, subject to the approval of the Government of India.

(I) the acceptance of the said proposal dated 10th (tenth) November 1882 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-two), submitted by the said Messrs. Morton Rose and Co., and

(II) the concession to the said J. Stewart, and W. Watson and others of all mines, fields, beds and deposits of coal, iron and all other minerals, the said Concessionnaires undertaking to form a limited liability Company in London with a capital of not less than one million sterling which should expend at least £100,000 (one hundred thousand pounds) in the development of such mines, and if the working of the mines proved sufficient for that purpose should guarantee to provide the Railway Company with a minimum mineral traffic equivalent to I (one) per cent on the capital of the Railway Company.

The said Sir Salar Jung also proposed to send the Defendant to Calcutta to represent the whole matter to His Excellency the Viceroy, if the Resident approved that step, and then with the Viceroy's approval to depute the Defendant to go to England and close with the said offers with the assistance of her Her Majesty's Secretary of State.

20. In the month of February 1883 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-three,) the said Sir Salar Jung died and a Provisional Government was appointed to conduct the affairs of the Plaintiff State.

21. On the 15th (fifteenth) March 1883 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-three,) the Government of India in a despatch to the Resident at Hyderabad approved generally of both schemes subject to certain reservations therein stated. A copy of the said despatch is hereto annexed and marked E.

22. On the 30th (thirtieth) March 1883 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-three), the Council of Regency of the Plaintiff State authorised the Defendant to proceed to England to close with the offers made by the said Messrs. Morton Rose and Co., and the said Messrs. Stewart and Watson and conferred on him full authority to sign all necessary documents in substantial accord with the drafts appended to the authority, copy of which is hereto annexed and marked F. to receive and disburse all moneys, to transact business of whatever nature connected with those projects and to act on the instructions he had received from the late Prime Minister, but the Defendant concealed from the said Council of Regency and they were in ignorance of the fact that he had any interest in or had made any arrangement for his own personal gain and advantage in respect of the said Mining Concession.

23. On his arrival in England the Defendant reported himself to the Secretary of State, who on the 5th (fifth) July 1883 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-three,) wrote to the Defendant a letter, an extract from which is hereto annexed and marked G.

24. The Defendant in lieu of proceeding with the said Morton Rose and Co., procured the said W. C. Watson to take up the Railway scheme and a Company called the "Nizam's Guaranteed State Railways Company, Limited," was formed by the said W. C. Watson and registered on the 24th (twenty-fourth) December 1883 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-three,) and by an agreement dated the 27th (twenty-seventh) December 1883 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-three), and made between the said Company of the 1st (first) part, the Plaintiff State through the Defendant of the 2nd (second) part, and the said W. C. Watson of the 3rd (third) part, it was agreed :—

(1) That the said Company should pay the said W. C. Watson the sum of £103,000 (one hundred thousand pounds) on the terms therein stated.

(2) That the said W. C. Watson should pay the charges and expenses therein mentioned up to the allotment of the share capital and retain the balance in full satisfaction of all claims by him for remuneration for his services.

(3) That the said W. C. Watson should indemnify the said Company from and against the said charges and expenses up to the allotment of the share capital but not further or otherwise, and

(4) That he the said W. C. Watson should acknowledge that he had no claim on the Plaintiff State.

A copy of the said agreement is hereto annexed and and marked H.

25. Owing to the reservations made by the Government of India in approving of the proposed grant of a Mining Concession to the said Messrs. Watson and Stewart and to the attitude assumed by the said Secretary of State the Defendent, being obliged to act under his advice, found it necessary to have a revised Draft of the said Mining Concession drawn up, and he accordingly submitted the matter to a Committee of Legal Advisers of the Plaintiff State and Mining Engineers, and in the result such revised draft was drawn up by Messrs. White Borrett and Co., solicitors, under instructions from the Defendant.

26. The preparation of the said revised draft occupied about 3 (three) months and involved frequent communications between the Committee, Messrs. White Borrett and Co. the Defendant as such Agent for the Plaintiff State and the said W. C. Watson and J Stewart who discussed every point as the drafting proceeded and the Defendant and the said W. C. Watson and John Stewart were well aware of the progress that was being made and of the points that were from time to time agreed to by the Committee and eventually the Defendant finding that the alternations that were being made were of an important character and against the interest of the Concessionnaires and therefore against his own as on or about the 25th (twenty-fifth) January 1884 (One thousand and eight hundred and eighty-four), suggested to the Plaintiff State that he should return to Hyderabad before completing the matter. Copies of his telegram to the Plaintiff State and of the reply thereto are hereunto annexed and marked collectively I.

27. In order to secure the interest of the Concessionaires and of himself and as far as possible to bind the Plaintiff State the Defendant as such Agent gave the said Messrs. Watson and Stewart a general acceptance of their original proposal notwithstanding the modification thereof in the revised agreement and gave them a verbal assurance that he would do his utmost to bring about a satisfactory settlement (meaning a settlement than £150,000 (one hundred and fifty thousand pounds) as modified by the Government of India on the 15th (fifteenth) March 1883 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-three), as distinguished from the terms of the said revised draft, and the Defendant strove most zealously as hereinafter appears to keep his promise.

28. The said Messrs. Watson and Stewart were prepared. as the Defendant well knew, to accept the revised draft had he required them to do so.

29. Copies of the said revised draft were forwarded by the said Messrs. White Borrett and Co., to the Solicitor for the ostensible Concessionnaires and to the Defendant respectively on or about the 8th (eighth) February 1884 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-four), and the said revised draft was settled upon the assumption, as the fact was that the original proposal contemplated a bona fide Company for the purpose of working the mines with a large available capital over and beyond the £100,000 (one hundred thousand pounds)to be paid up in the first instance as a condition of relasing the deposit made by the Concessionnaires, and it was therein provided that the proposed Company should have a subscribed capital of at least £50,000 (five hundred thousand pounds).

30 The Defendant having returned to Hyderabad in February 1884 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-four), took no steps in the matter during the continuance of the said Provisional Government, but he afterwards proceeded so far as he could to make good his said promise to the said Messrs. Watson and Stewart as proposed to be amended by Sir Salar Jung, the Younger, who had by this time been appointed Prime Minister that the said W. C. Watson had undertaken the Railway business on terms exceedingly favourable to the Plaintiff State and had reduced the commission originally stipulated for by the said Morton Rose and Co., from 7½ (seven and a half) to about 6 (six) per cent. in the hope of being remunerated by the grant of the Mining Concession by which reduction he forfeited his claim to the said £4,900,000 (four hundred pounds). The Defendant also by showing alleged accounts and original vouchers for the expenditure of the greater portion of the £100,000 (one hundred thousand pounds) granted to the said W. C. Watson by the said Railway Company as aforesaid persuaded the said Sir Salar Jung, the Younger (contrary as the Defendant well knew to the fact) that the remuneration which the said W. C. Watson had received was quite inadequate. The Defendant further untruly alleged that the misrepresentations of certain alleged political opponents of the Railway Scheme had involved a heavy loss to the said W. C. Watson and other underwriters of the Railway Company's capital. The Defendant also pressed the very valuable services alleged to have been rendered by the said W. C. Watson in bringing about a satisfactory settlement of the Railway scheme and by the Defendant's representations he induced the said Sir Salar Jung, the Younger, to grant the Mining Concession to the said Messrs. Watson and Stewart when as the Defendant admitted the terms were more favourable to Plaintiff State might have been obtained.

31. The said Sir Salar Jung, the Younger, was originally and until he had been induced by the Defendant as aforesaid inclined to enter into fresh negotiations with other parties or to endeavour to compel the said W. C. Watson and J. Stewart to accept an agreement very considerably modified in principle from the terms of the said revised draft.

32. The said C. A. Winter as had been arranged between him and his co-concessionnaires and the Defendant came to India in 1884 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-four), but did not go to Hyderabad until after the said Sir Salar Jung, the Younger, had been for some time the Prime Minister of the Plaintiff State and the said C. A. Winter having applied through the Resident for an interview with Sir Salar Jung, the Younger, and having been desired to put in writing the chief points he proposed to discuss, he, on the 16th (sixteenth) December 1884 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-four), in concert with the Defendant wrote a letter copy whereof is hereunto annexed and marked J. to the said Sir Salar Jung, the Younger, in which appears as follows "on Wednesday (the 10th (tenth) inst.) I had an interview with Sirdar Dilar Jung and went through the draft concession which had been prepared by England by the Legal Advisers of His Highness' Government, and I then found that the draft so prepared contained many points and provisions materially opposed to the terms of the accepted proposals whereas in fact he knew the contents of the revised draft from the beginning. The said C. A. Winter then made objections under six heads and stated that there were several minor points of detail which he wished to discuss when the Deed should be finally settled, and he concluded by saying that his friends were most anxious to see the matter completed."

33. In particular the said C. A. Winter proposed that instead of the proviso that £500,000 (five hundred thousand pounds) should be subscribed for by a certain day and £100,000 (one hundred thousand pounds) actually paid up the first issue of shares should be for £100,000 (one hundred thousand pounds) of which £25,000 (twenty-five thousand pounds) should be paid up at once and the balance in calls at short notice as and when required.

34. The said Sir Salar Jung, the Younger, was however aware that the Secretary of State had in a despatch to the Government of India dated 21st (twenty-first) February 1884 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-four) (after stating that he had been informed by the Defendant that it had been considered advisable not to proceed further with the concession and that its consideration would be postponed until he would return to Hyderabad,) expressed a doubt whether a concession involving exclusive rights in all minerals in every part of the Nizam's Territory was essential to ensure the working of the Coal which apparently was the only mineral then likely to be raised, and expressed his trust that proper caution would be exercised in avoiding the grant of exclusive rights over extensive areas which might be found extremely onerous in the future, and the said Sir Salar Jung, the Younger, was himself, as hereinbefore mentioned, disinclined to grant the said concession, but owing to the representations made by the Defendant he did not feel at liberty to reject the revised draft if the Concessionnaires were prepared to accept it, and accordingly wrote to the said C. A. Winter on the 17th (seventeenth) December 1884 (One thousand eight hundred and eighty-four,) a letter copy of which is hereunto annexed and marked K, saying that the draft had been prepared in England by a Committee of Legal Advisers of the Plaintiff State and Mining Engineers with the knowledge of Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India in Council, and contained necessary provisions to protect the interest of the Plaintiff State, and he therefore did not think that the Plaint

LAWRENCE & MAYO,
(OPHTHALMIC OPTICIANS.)
SPECTACLES to benefit the sight must be exactly adapted for correcting the particular defect for which they are designed.
The first important step, therefore, is to get the refraction accurately defined, and all necessary measurements taken. Spectacles are then prepared specially in accordance with the requirements of each case, and it is only when thus precisely adapted that beneficial effects can be relied upon.
Astigmatism, a common enough complication, can only be corrected in this way. Ordinary spectacle vendors never attempt it, or at most can forward an oculist's formula to Europe. In our own Factory any kind of lens can be cut at a few days' notice, whether spherical, cylinder, both combined, or bifocal.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

BOMBAY MARKET REPORT.

FRIDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 21.

SINCE the resumption of business after the Dewali holidays there has been much more doing in our chief Export staple, especially in its arrival branch, and prices advanced somewhat in a firm or steady market, notwithstanding the unencouraging tenor of advices from Liverpool and New York. Wheat and Seeds have not attracted much attention on most days, and quotations generally show little change. Under the influence of depressing news from the other side, the rates of Exchange receded rapidly, and though, latterly, a considerable recovery from the lowest point touched has taken place, quotations at closing this evening were 7-16d. lower for Bank Demand Bills, and ¼d. for three months' sight Credits than we quoted a week ago. Government Paper has fluctuated a little, but Four per cents are now on the same level as they were last Friday evening. Freights are steady, but with hardly any demand except at lower rates. Imports have been active on the leading lines of Manchester Goods, and rates have partially improved to some extent.

MONEY.—During the holiday week covered by the Presidency Bank's Statement of Affairs issued on Monday, the demand for Money was naturally very slack, and accordingly there was an improvement in the Cash Balance to the considerable extent of some 16½ lakhs, bringing the figures up to 519¼ lakhs. The increase in the Balance since the previous Return thus shown, however, did not fully represent the falling off in trade requirements during the week, which were materially greater; for though there had been an increase of nearly four lakhs in Bills Discounted Private Deposits had increased by over 28 lakhs, and this, with some diminution in Loans, brought the net decrease in the trade demand to close upon 26 lakhs, to which must be added a net increase of about 3 lakhs in public deposits. The difference between the aggregate of these gains and the actual increase in the Balance being accounted for by a large increase in Government Securities. Although business has been more active in some of its branches this week, an occasion has arisen for the Bank to raise its rates, and the minimum remains at the low level of 3 per cent.

EXCHANGE opened very weak on last Mail day at 1s. 6¼d. for Bank Demand, and 1s. 6 9-16d. for three months' sight Credits; but an enquiry for ready Telegraphic soon knocked the rate for that medium of remittance down to 1s. 5½d. Some Credits were placed in the early morning for the Mail at 1s. 6¼d.; and one Bank bought a line of Telegraphic, at 1s. 5 15-16 to ⅝d.; but as usual now on a Saturday, there was not much business passing on any line. At closing for the week there was an easy feeling, with forward Bank Demand quoted 1s. 6 5-16d. to ⅜d. for January delivery, and three months' sight Credits at 1s. 6¼d. for January February, and 1s. 6 13-16d. for March. Owing to the news to hand from London and New York meantime this market opened with a very unsettled feeling on Monday morning, Bank Demand having been quoted at 1s. 5⅞d., and three months' sight Credits at 1s. 6¼d., and these rates rapidly gave way ⅛d. A fairly big business was done at the decline, some Bank Demand having been placed at 1s. 5⅝d., and Credits at 1s. 6¼d. for a month's delivery, and 1s. 6 1-16d. for ready Bills. At closing, Credits were quoted at 1s. 6¼d. and 1s. 6 5-16d. for January and February delivery On Tuesday, the market was very unsettled. Bank Demand having been first quoted at 1s. 5⅞d., and three months' sight Credits at 1s. 6¼d., from which rates declined to 1s. 5½d. and 1s. 6d., respectively. About £100,000 of ready Demand Bank Paper was bought by Banks, at 1s. 5½ to ⅛d.; and a fair amount of Private Bills were placed, for November-December delivery, at from 1s. 6d. to 1s. 6 3-16d. for three months' sight Credits. A line of Private Telegraphic was sold to a Bank at 1s. 5¾d. The market closed with a steadier feeling, Bank Demand for January-February being quoted at 1s. 5⅞d., and Credits at 1s. 6 3-16d. for December, and 1s. 6 5-16d. for January delivery. On the following day, in presence of further depressing news to hand by wire rates opened at a considerable decline on Tuesday's closing quotations, 1s. 5 5-16d. having been named for Bank Demand and; 1s. 5⅞d. for three months' sight Credits. A large business was again done between Banks at 1s. 5 5-16d. for ready Demand, and 1s. 5⅞d for December delivery; and in Telegraphic, for January transfer, at 1s. 5 7-16d. credits were placed, to some extent, at 1s. 5⅞d. for ready three months' sight Bills, at 1s. 5 13-16d. for delivery in a month, and 1s. 5¾d. for December. The market steadied, however, before closing, with the Banks keen sellers, but not buyers at all forward, and only open to take a few Bills for the Mail, for which 1s. 5 13-16d. was nominal. Yesterday the market opened with a tone at 1s. 5⅞d. for Bank Demand and 1s. 5¾d. for Credits, and closed with the same feeling at an advance of 1-16d. to ⅛d. in Bank, and ¼d. to 3-16 in Private Paper, the quotation for the latter, however, having been nominal, there having been no buyers in the afternoon for any delivery. There was not much done in Bank Paper during the day; but a fair amount of Private Bills were placed at various rates, from 1s. 5 13-16d. to 1s. 16 1-16d. for ready three months' sight Credits, and at full rates for future delivery. A very firm feeling prevailed again this morning, and ready Credits gradually advanced to 1s. 6 5-16d, and Bank Demand to 1s. 5⅞d., at which the market closed firm, with January Demand quoted at 1s. 6d., and Credits at 1s. 6⅛d. for January and 1s. 6¼d. for February delivery. GOVERNMENT PAPER.—This market at the close of last week was quiet in tone, with little doing on any line. There were cash sellers of Four per cents. at 103 1-16, and a little was done at the rate; while for the next two accounts there were buyers in the market at 102 13-16 and 102 7-16 respectively, and eventually something was booked for the 1st December at 102⅛, the January settlement being quoted at 102¼. On Monday, the market was steady, not to say firm, at about Saturday's quotations, but it remained quiet as to the amount of business passing. 103 was quoted for Four per cents. for cash; 102⅛ for the coming settlement; and 102½ for the January account, with buyers in all positions. On the following day the tone was quiet but steady on about the level of previous quotations, Four per cents. for Money having been quoted throughout the day to the close at 103, and a little business was done at the rate; while for the next settlement, and the January account, Monday's rates were repeated, a little having been booked on the latter line. The market was quiet and weak on Wednesday in sympathy with advices from the other side, and although 103 was still the rate for Fours for Money in the earlier part of the day, a decline 1-16 per cent. was eventually established, 102 15-16 being the final rate, with Account quotations also lower to the same extent at 102 13-16 for the coming settlement, and 102 7-16 for January. Yesterday the market was quiet and drooping again, and a further decline of 1-16d. per cent. in the price of Fours was established, our closing quotations having been 102⅞ for cash, 102¾ for the coming settlement, and 102½ for the January account. There was, however, little, or nothing doing in any position. With better accounts from the other side, this market became active to-day, and rates for Fours improved to 103 for cash; 102 15-16 for the 1st December settlement; and 102 9-16 for the January account. Four and a half per cents. are nominally quoted rather lower at 106½.

Municipal 5 per cent. Loan is rather higher at 104¼ to 105. Port Trust Bonds are ¼ per cent. up at 99.

SHARES have been a quiet market throughout the week; but the feeling with regard to Cotton Mill Scrip has been in favour of sellers, and the few changes which we make in our quotations this evening show some advance compared with those of a week ago. Alliance, Connaught, Colaba Land and Mill, Hindustan, Howard and Bullough, Leopold, and Mazagon, are all Rs. 5 higher; Coorla, Framjee Petit, Oriental, and Soondardas have advanced Rs.10 each; Luckmidas are Rs. 22½; and Maneckji Petit Rs. 20 higher. In Press Shares, we note a decline this week of Rs. 5 in Colaba and Prince of Wales; and of Rs. 2½ in East Indian; but on the other hand, Sind and Punjab have advanced Rs. 25; East Indian, Rs. 10; and Volkarts Rs. 5. In miscellaneous shares, Prince of Wales Fire are Rs. 50 higher; Delhi and Northern Flour have advanced Rs. 5; Thacker and Co. are Rs. 3 up; Treacher and Co. have declined Rs. 10; Bombay Ice are Rs. 2 higher. Bank of Bombay shares have declined Rs. 15; Bank of Madras are Rs. 5 higher.

IMPORTS.

PIECE-GOODS.—Owing to the lower Exchange quotations which have ruled during the past week, up-country buyers of staple Grey Goods have operated very freely, and a large business has been done at slightly better rates. Holders, however, have not hesitated to freely meet any offers based upon the rates of the day, stocks being abundant. In Bleached Goods, White Nainsooks, Mulls, and Jacconets of low and medium makes have been in free demand at rather higher prices. In Dyed, Turkey Red, and Printed Goods, only a moderate business has transpired at previous rates. And Local Goods have been taken to a fair extent at about last week's rates. The offtake of Imported Goods from the bazar during the week is estimated at 7,000 packages; that of Local Goods at 3,000 bales.

YARNS.—A moderate business only has been passing in Imported Twist, and prices are quite unchanged, the tone of the market being quiet. Stimulated by a belief in a higher range of rates through the action of a low Exchange, China buyers of Bombay Spinnings have, notwithstanding the extremely dull state of the China market, made very large purchases, almost without example in their extent within the last four years in the history of the local industry. Advices from China give 1,500 bales as the sales for the week ending last Monday; but here the market is very active and rates show an advance of one-sixteenth anna in numbers above 10s. The market closes firm with an upward tendency, at the following offical quotations:—

Twist...	...No. 6 Mule	As. 4 7-16	to 4½	per lb.
" ...	... " 8 "	" 4½	" 4⅝	"
" ...	... " 10 "	" 4⅝	" 5¼	"

" ...	... " 24 "	" 6¼	" 6¾	"
" ...	... " 30 "	" 7	" 7¼	"
" ...	... " 40 "	" 8¼	" 9¼	"

METALS.—Copper has declined half a rupee per cwt. in a quiet market with little demand for any description. Yellow Metal has been taken to a moderate extent, and the feeling in this market also is quiet; but prices are unchanged. Iron is firm in tone at an advance of 8 to 16 annas, but not more than a moderate business has been passing.

COAL has been unsettled by the fluctuations in Exchange, and no fresh transactions of importance has transpired during the week. Powells Duffryn has been quoted for December-February shipment at Rs. 19 per ton by sellers, and Davison's at Rs. 17½; but there have been no buyers within a rupee or so of these rates.

XPORTS.

COTTON.—There have been more signs of animation in this market than at any time since the termination of the rainy season, exporters and local consumers having been buyers of the early arrivals of the new crop of Bengals and Burma descriptions, and considerable contracts for future delivery of Bengals and Broach having been made by the former; old stuff having been in but moderate demand by the Mills. Last week closed with a considerable business passing, in a firm market, and with prices Re. to Rs. 2 higher; and on Monday, although the advance appeared to have checked business, and few fresh transactions were reported, the tone was still firm, and a further advance in prices to the same extent was established. The next day a considerable business was done again at the enhanced quotations; and thereafter, though demand slackened, and transactions were only at a moderate scale, the feeling was steady, and rates were maintained. The principal purchases of ready new Cotton during the week have been in Dhulia, at Rs. 173½; Julgaum at Rs. 178-4 9½; Challisgaum, at Rs. 173-4; Pachora, at Rs. 176-7; Bengal, at Rs. 159-61; and Hinganghat at Rs. 209½-11; and forward contracts have been made for "Good" Bengal, at Rs. 154¼-6; "Fully Good," at Rs. 161-3; and "Fine" at Rs. 174; for January delivery; and in "Good Broach" for March delivery at Rs. 207, and "Fully Good" at Rs. 214. In old stuff a few lots have been taken, Bhownugger, at Rs. 181-2; Veraval, at Rs. 143-62½; Barsee, at Rs. 170-90; Akola, at Rs. 173; Compta, at Rs. 155; and Tinnevelly, at Rs. 190½ per candy. The market closed quiet this evening with prices Re. 1 lower for Bengals, and Re 1 to Rs. 2 higher for Bhownuggar.

The arrivals of Cotton of the new crop during the week have been 9,943 bales, against 25,050 bales to hand in the corresponding period last season; and the falling off in Receipts of New Cotton this year compared with the last has already reached 43,370 bales.

The news to hand by wire from the Cotton districts at the beginning of the week was altogether of a favourable tenor, the anticipations of a return of fine weather, which were prevalent last week, having been realized, bright and seasonable weather with no further signs of rain having set in over the whole of the Cotton area. At Hubli, in the Dharwar circle, where the rainfall had been unusually heavy, the plants continued to show more improvement; and at Wadwan, in Dhollera circle, where, on the other hand, less than half the average fall had been registered, the plants were flourishing, and crop prospects were good. Picking was general, and Cotton was arriving at most of the district centres in the Bengal and Oomra circles; and, at Broach, arrivals were expected early. The telegraphic reports received yesterday advised a continuance the fine seasonable weather over the whole of the Cotton area, which had set in again at the beginning of the week after the disturbance caused by the late rain; and the picking of the crop was progressing favourably in the Bengal and Oomra circles, while in Broach and Dhollera circles the crop was rapidly maturing. At Hubli, in the Dharwar circle, also the plants were doing well.

The following are to-day's quotations for full pressed Cotton, with the equivalent in Sterling Cost, Freight to Liverpool, via Canal, without commission, viz:—

WHEAT.—This market remained steady to the close of last week, with only a moderate business passing on the basis of previous rates; but on Monday the feeling was much greater, and little was done, whole the price of Pessy gave way half an anna per cwt., other kinds being unchanged in value. Thereafter the tone was steady, and transactions on a moderate scale till yesterday, when the feeling became firm again and some pretty large purchases were made by exporters; prices, however, remaining unaltered.

SEEDS.—This market became quiet the day before yesterday with business on a small scale, and the price of Rapeseed was put down an anna per cwt., other descriptions being unaltered. Otherwise the market has been steady with only a moderate business doing from day to day. At closing we quote:—

H. E. THE GOVERNOR'S TOUR.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

RAJKOTE, Nov. 21.

At the banquet given by the Nawab of Junagadh to H. E. the Governor last night, his Highness proposed his Excellency's health, and in doing so said they welcomed him cordially, knowing they had in him a friend to the province, the princes, and the people. His Excellency, in replying, and at the same time proposing a toast to his Highness of Junagadh, referred to the many works of benefit and public interest undertaken by the Nawab, who had shown an energetic and active determination to fulfil his part. Lakhs of money had been spent on roads and railways, and he hoped the junction of Junagad with Verawal would be an immense benefit to the people. The Nawab has also shown himself careful towards his co-religionists in the matter of education, establishing the Mahobat Madressa at considerable expense in assisting the Anjuman-i-Islam at Bombay and Ahmedabad, granting scholarships to students at Bombay and Ahmedabad; while recently he had determined to encourage the study of law and medicine in England by sending students home. Regarding his Highness's hospitality, it was strongly instanced on the occasion of the visit of the son of the Prince and Princess of Wales, in commemoration of which his Highness contemplated establishing a leper asylum at Junagadh; while for the peace and comfort of the country he had recognised it as his duty to take a part in establishing an Imperial Service Corps. In conclusion his Excellency asked all to join in drinking the health of his Highness, hoping he might long enjoy the Order of the Indian Empire that day conferred on him. The toast was heartily pledged, and his Highness having replied, the Governor proceeded to the Durbar Hall to the reception of the Chiefs.

The first event of to-day was the laying of the foundation-stone of the Bahadurkhanji Reservoir, presented to Rajkot by his Highness the Nawab of Junagadh. His Excellency having declared the stone well and truly laid, said the interesting ceremony was another illustration of the great interest which the Chiefs of Kathiawar took in public works of all description. He thought they had done very wisely in devoting part of the money subscribed for a museum in commemoration of her Majesty's Jubilee to the construction of a reservior, because the Museum could only be taken advantage of by the educated classes whereas the reservoir could be of great service to all. His Excellency next proceeded to the Rajkumar College for the purpose of distributing prizes. Mr. McNaughten, Principal of the College, first gave a lengthy history of the school from its commencement; after which the pupils gave some recitations in English. His Excellency having distributed the prizes, delivered an address, in which, after a few congratulatory remarks, he said that an attempt had been made in India to model educational institutions on the English public school system. But they must not think they had a close imitation of it. He did not know it would ever be possible in India to produce a counterpart of it. He did not know it was suited to oriental customs, habits, and manners. The English public school gave no advantages to birth or wealth. English public schools were model republics, where prizes were gained by prowess, and not by favour, and where each member had to regulate his behaviour to suit not himself, but the general body. Then the mode of life, although luxurious as compared with the mode practised not many decades back, was still Spartan as compared with the mode of life in educational institutions in this country meant to be of the same character. But, said Lord Haris, he was not finding fault that these institutions were not the same as English ones, for every allowance had to be made for the climate, racial and customary differences. Still were it impossible to make an exact copy of the original. There were good points in it, which were attainable. The manliness, determination, and indifference to pain, characteristic of school-boys, were as attainable here as in any climate, and there were valuable qualities for those who some day had to face the criticism of public opinion. They were young gentlemen who, by God's providence, would some day be called to fill high positions fraught with the happiness or the reverse of thousands, who would be affected by their example and administration. They would be guides by their example to those whose interests would be largely in their care. His Excellency, therefore, impressed upon them the necessity of making the best use of the opportunities they had in that college, and make themselves fit for those great responsibilities they would have in the future. He trusted that by their virtue and capacity they might secure peace and contentment amongst those around them, and thereby be doing their duty by performing their part in making still more consolidated that great Empire. The pupils then sang the National Anthem, and the assembly dispersed.

His Excellency and staff afterwards had tiffin at the college, and in the afternoon drove with Colonel Hancock to the jungle about twenty miles distant, where H. E. the Governor will have some shooting in the morning, returning to Rajkot in time for the races to-morrow afternoon.

THE ASSISTANT HIGH PRIEST OF THE PARSEES.

(FROM A CORRESPONDENT.)

SECUNDERABAD, Nov. 21.

Dastur Kaicobad Aderbad, Assistant High Priest of the Parsees in the Deccan, is here on a diocesan visitation, and is being very cordially entertained by his co-religionists in Secunderabad, Hyderabad. As this is his first visit to this important diocese in his charge, since his election as assistant to the worthy High Priest, Sirdar Khan Bahadur Doctor Dastur Hoshang, the occasion is made the most of by the Parsee community. Several convivial gatherings have been held in his honor; not the least important amongst which was the dinner given some time ago by the newly-formed Deccan Parsee Club and another brilliant entertainment provided by our genial leading Parsee gentleman, Mr. Shapurjee Eduljee Chinoy, at his palatial residence, Shapurwadi, but in the midst of this generous hospitality he has not been forgetful of the spiritual duties or intellectual wants of his congregation. He has already held some impressive services, and delivered the other day a learned and eloquent sermon at Shapurwadi. The most important function, and one perhaps that has not been witnessed in Hyderabad for several years past, took place this evening at the fire-temple after the Jashan ceremony was performed by Dastur Khorshidji, high priest of this division, Dastur Kaicobad treated the community to a fluent and instructive lecture on the rise and growth of Zoroastrianism. The address was listened to with great attention. Almost the whole of the Parsee community was present. What was specially remarkable and unique in this stronghold of conservative ideas was that a large number of ladies lent considerable charm and eclat to the occasion. At the conclusion of the lecture, congratulatory addresses were enclosed in a handsome silver casket, and rich pair of shawls were presented to Dastur Kaicobad by the Parsee community. Similar presents were also received from Mr. Shapurji Chinoy and Mr. Dossabhoy Nusserwanji, the popular well-known Parsee Aide-de-Camp to his Excellency Sir Asmanjah Bahadur.

PICTURES AND PLAYS.

(FROM OUR LADY CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, Oct. 31.

One would feel inclined to sigh "Toujours perdrix" at the mention of another art show if there were not a charming variety in the methods, manners, and mediums of artists—in fact, if the partridge were not served up in so many different styles, and with sauces of such varying piquancy as to prevent our taste being palled. The brilliant impressions at the Grosvenor, and the smart satires, and irresistible though risky jokes at "the Rabelais" gallery, are so entirely different from the sober, domestic, thoroughly English Exhibition of paintings in oils at the Royal Institute, Piccadilly, that there can be no question of complaining of the monotony of this winter's artistic menu; the difficulty is rather how we shall do justice to such a generous provision.

At the present Exhibition of the Institute there are no very ambitious compositions—no expanses of sensationally covered canvas—no thrilling tales of murder, battle, famine—no stretches of imaginary heathen heavens with Jupiter and all the dei majorem gentium—no visions of a Catholic Paradise populated with glorified Magdalens, rapturous Agneses, and ecstatic Cecilias—nothing to recall the vivid imagination of the French Schools. The Exhibition is English—prosaically English—people would say who see nothing to admire in the bits of Cornish homestead, of Sussex cornfields, of Surrey sandpits, of Leicestershire ferries, of Westmorland lakes, and Berkshire lanes—who fail to see beauty in the little genre pieces executed with a Dutch fidelity to detail and English refinement of taste—the country inn, the cottagers' garden, the farmhouse kitchen, the village pump—the simple transcript of their native beauties in which English painters specially excel. That in the subject of the pictures, the homely element predominates over the more ambitious attempts at imaginative composition is a question not only of national temperament and talent, but of season. In the summer our artists go a potboiling; from May to October they haunt every picturesque nook in Great Britain, filling volumes of sketch books, and covering acres of canvas with suggestions for future work. And out of their vast stores of material, the Winter Exhibitions take their choice, and when we have finally bid good-bye to summer, they revive its beauty on their walls, with pictures of waving trees and flickering shadows, of sunshine caught on ripening meadows, of shallow brooks and dimly-lighted lanes; effects of mist and shower and storm, studies on the riverside, the canal bank, the seashore, and the moor—beautiful reminiscences to counteract the dreariness and intensified unpicturesqueness of London winter.

But though land and seascapes are most numerous, the Exhibition is not by any means unrepresentative in other lines. There are some portraits—a striking one by Mr. Solomon Solomons of his mother, a typical British matron in the uncompromising respectability of her black silk attire and her grim propriety of demeanour, though in features showing her alliance to the children of Israel. Another remarkable portrait is of the little son of Christopher Tower, Esq., painted by Mr. J. J. Shannon, evidently a rapid piece of work. The child's attitude is expressive and natural, but the furs on which he reclines, though sketchily put in have an uncomfortable effect of coming forward and extinguishing the figure. There is a raggedness too about the drapery and general properties introduced, which is not good composition. The Hon'ble John Collier exhibits a clever portrait of a gentleman. Mr. Arthur Hacker and Mr. Joseph Clark are less successful with their children's portraits, and Mr. Walter Goodman's picture of Mr. Lionel Brough is unpleasant in drawing, and in the shape of its frame which seems to press down and leave too little space for Mr. Brough's very assertive-looking head of hair. Mr. Henry J. Stock as usual contributes an imaginative picture. It is "the Release."

"I am as one disembodied, triumphant, dead"—Whitman. In an atmosphere of very brilliant pink, carmine, and gold, a figure soars with uplifted arms into space, while below in a cold gray blue world lies her deserted body. There is a really very fine expression in the figures—one so still, the other full of impassioned action; but in both there is something very trying in the attitude—a want of hang about the limbs that distracts the eye from the sublimity of the thought, and concentrates it on the faulty anatomy. "Sweet Silence," by Mr. Haynes Williams, is a charming eighteenth century beauty with an enraptured lover looking on. Both are speechless, sweetly silent I should say—whether because their hearts are too full for words, or their heads too empty is not expressed in the picture. Probably the fault is their being like a pair of pretty dolls is because of the fashion to paint models a la Recamier, afterwards comes the difficulty of finding a motive for their appearance. Then a young man in ruffles and buckled shoes, a spinet, and a vast amount of inlaid furniture has to be put in to make up the story. A more interesting painting is Mr. T. B. Kennington's "Adversity." In an unpicturesque upper room two young girls in deep mourning are standing surrounded by their work—ball-dresses and costumes of various bright tints which throw into relief the sombre sadness of the girls' faces and their attire. There is a fine effect of atmosphere which softens the contrast between the lights and darks and masses the broken up detail of the picture. Mr. F. M. Skipworth's study of a girl among flowers is very fresh.

"My love was in a garden, Herself the sweetest flower"

is a very fair description of how a girl in a pink dress with a pink sunshade looks in a wilderness of summer gladioli, lilies, and carnations. There is also something charming in the attitude of Mr. Thos. Riley's "Auntey's Darling" a sweet solemn child in blue with a large sun hat, who is clasped in the arms of a pretty graceful girl in pink. A little more detail would have improved the dress, which is monotonous in simplicity, but the picture is otherwise so pleasant that one forgets to be critical. Mr. Arthur Blunt's "Millbank" is a charming, hazy-grey study of the river above the prison, a little Victoria steamer giving a bright spot of colour to the gloom near the bridge. Beside it is hung another sketch, "Seine Boats, South Devon," by Frank Murray, one of the pleasantest coloured bits in the whole show. Miss H. Montalba also sends two of her strong drawings—views at Cannes, Miss Ethel Wright's "Whispers"—a nymph listening to the echoes in a sea shell held to her ear by a sly-looking little love is very charming of its kind and holds the place of honor at the top of the first room. Other women have done good work too, but, however, painful to one's amour propre she must acknowledge that on the whole the men exhibitors are the most numerous and most successful.

A million of money is the latest attempt at extravagant stage realism perpetrated by Mr. Augustus Harris and Mr. Henry Pettitt, at Drury Lane Theatre. To satisfy the popular taste for spectacular drama they have constructed a play in five acts which introduces us first to a parsonage garden, then to chambers in Piccadilly, then to the Races, to the French Exhibition, and then to Squander Mansion, which has been fitted up regardless of expense at the desire of the management. After that we are shown Wellington Barracks, Dunstable-Hall, and a reef on the Indian Ocean, returning to make a decorous finish in Dunstable Hall, the ancestral property of the hero, the owner of the million of money, Mr. Harry Dunstable, an indifferently conducted young man whose fortunes we follow half over the globe. Naturally the play that had to provide so many interesting situations as the synopsis of scenery describes, is not very true to nature, not very striking in character, and not admirable in plot. Like pleasure which was produced two or three years ago, it is supposed to be a page from Society life, and if truthfully represented it is a very disreputable and vulgar page of which the British public have no reason to be proud. However they seem to enjoy it in a simple-minded manner and they imbibe vast draughts of swagger as representative of society smartness, and apparently believe pertness and a magnificent gown the outward symbols of an English Lady. Then how rapturously they applaud the race-course scene—the coaches, tents, gypsies, niggers, and cheer to the echo when the race is run, and the miserable frightened horses flash wildly across the stage. It is really very wonderfully well got up—but it is not acting—no more acting than the patient sturdy little donkey's dragging a coster's cart across the stage, nor the regiment of soldiers hired expressly, band and all, from the most convenient barracks for the occasion.

The entire effort of the ladies seems concentrated on their various costumes, which are very lovely and worthy of any attention that could be spared from their parts. Miss Alice Longard as Stella St. Clair, a handsome adventuress, shows off an exquisite orange satin gown to perfection. It is made perfectly plain with a train and no ornament but a scarf of spangled tulle softly folded round the low neck bodice and drawn down to the waist from which it hung to the end of the dress—an exquisite shimmering drapery, toning down the gorgeousness of the orange satin dress. Miss Fannie Brough, who acts the flippant young lady, was rather amusing with Mr. Harry Nicholls, a young student of the silly funny type. They in fact supplied the only laughable element in the drearily drawn out military sporting and spectacular drama. "A Woman of the World," by F. Mable, Robinson, is a pleasant story, brightly and artistically told, of the loves of medical students, art students, and others whom the authoress seems to have studied from the life. The development of the "Woman of the World" is a rather interesting proceeding and the characters altogether show individuality, which is not as common a virtue as it might be among novel-makers.

"Lovers' Stationery" is one of the newest ideas in notepaper in America. The watermark is a blending of two hearts pierced by an arrow. On the lower corner of the last page appears a little mark which is intended to denote the kissing spot. It is covered with an aromatic gum, which is said to impart to the lips an agreeable odour and taste. This notepaper is having a great run in some of the large towns in the States.

LANDSCAPE GARDENING IN NATIVE STATES.

I.

Very little seems to be generally known of the present state of gardening in Native States, though there is no doubt that as rapid strides are being taken in this respects in those territories as in administration and education. I have, therefore, ventured in the following remarks to give a sketch of the more important gardens I lately have had the opportunity of visiting. Though the last place I visited, I shall first mention Baroda, because it undoubtedly occupies the first place from the point of view of the landscape gardener. The splendid new Luxmivilas Palace, now in the last stages of completion, can hardly be surpassed in architectural beauty or costliness of interior decoration, and it is very rare in modern buildings to meet with so perfect and faultless a harmony of outlines. A building of this extent and beauty deserves to be surrounded by a garden which will not only rival it in beauty, but at the same time will assist in adding to the effect of its architectural features. H. H. the Gaekwar must, therefore, be congratulated on having perceived the necessity of allotting a large area to be laid out as garden and park, under the immediate supervision of an English specialist, Mr. Goldring, and of not saving any expense in endeavouring to obtain as successful results as possible. The work of laying out the grounds is still in its earlier stage, only the preliminary work of clearing away villages, outhouses, regulating nullahs &c., having been completed. The works of road-making, terracing, rock-building, and planting are still in progress. From the various plans, models, &c., to which Mr. Goldring kindly gave me access, there appears, however, to be no doubt that the grounds, when completed, will represent features not found in other Indian gardens, and that the work will involve an expenditure quite unprecedented in India. It is impossible, at the present stage of the works, to form a correct judgment of the eventual results. It may, however, be hoped that they will be such as to justify the expenditure and labour bestowed upon the work. Among the principal features of the grounds there will be a sunk garden, ornamented with marble fountains, statues, and electric light; facing the palace will be another sunk garden, exclusively reserved for the Maharani and her lady-companions, and an architectural garden, all in the immediate vicinity of the palace. These are all features which, though more or less reminiscent of old styles of gardening, in which the art of design prevailed over the observance of natural beauty, still have their justification in the immediate vicinity of buildings, and other art objects. They prove most attractive when strictly in harmony with the adjacent buildings, so as to form a complement to them, and when the plants selected for decorating such gardens are of such a nature as to complete the harmony. In this last respect some difficulty will be found, both in the original planting and the maintenance of the gardens, and Mr. Goldring will deserve very great credit indeed if he succeeds, in such a climate as that of Baroda in obtaining the effects so essentail to a successful result in this branch of gardening. Another prominent feature is the embellishment of a nullah with artificial rocks, built in masonry and coated with a composition that gives them a natural colour. This kind of work is obviously of the very greatest difficulty, unless carried out on a very large scale, so as to assume the proportions of natural rocks; where this is not feasible the result too often is that even the strictest attempts at a successful imitation of nature lead to the directly opposite result, and the artificial structure becomes prominently apparent. In this case the features are too small to assume any likeness to natural rocks, and even without considering the common occurrence of imposing rock-scenery in India, it is very doubtful whether its imitation is advisable in this climate, as the vegetation which is necessary to give relief to the artificial rocks, will probably in the course of time entirely hide the original outlines, unless it is permanently and severely restricted. The gardens in the interior courts of the palace, which are laid out in strict harmony with the building and in accordance with the style, are ornamented with basins and fountains and are very attractive, and as it is possible here to maintain an artificial damp atmosphere, palms and ornamental foliage plants, such as crotons, alocasias, ferns, &c., which are such essential accessories to decorative gardening in India, are likely to flourish. The grounds surrounding the palace are richly studded with fine specimens of old and well-grown trees, among which chiefly some splendid tamarind trees are worthy of notice. They lend themselves excellently to the formation of a handsome park, though not possessing great variety of surface, nor offering specially attractive surroundings. The beauty of the future park will therefore almost solely depend on the effective distribution of plantations and open spaces, and much regret will be felt at the necessity of felling a considerable number of pine trees, without which, however, it will not be found possible to obtain the desired effects. The supervision of this work by such a specialist as Mr. Goldring ought, however, to be a sufficient guarantee for the due consideration of all pros and cons. Intimate as he is with English park scenery no one knows better how to deal in the most judicious way with difficulties arising out of this or similar causes. Of planting so very little has been undertaken thus far, that a judgment cannot yet be pronounced. It may, however, be mentioned that large trees have been successfully transplanted by the aid of a transplanting machine (Barron's). This is, I believe, the first experience of this kind in India, and may be found occasionally useful, though obviously not possessing the same advantages as in English gardens, as most trees do not in India require a very long period to attain a considerable size. Several temples, wells, and buildings are found scattered in the grounds, and will undoubtedly add to the variety and become more or less attractive features.

The gardens at the Makurpuri Palace, the present residence of H. H. the Gaekwar, are in a more advanced state. They are, like the palace, which has no great claim to architectural beauty, planned partly in the Italian style. This style of gardening is better suited for the peculiar vegetation of Southern Europe, with its evergreen trees and shrubs, all of a more or less compact and stiff appearance, than for the drier parts of India. To obtain a harmony between this and the picturesque style of gardening to which the remainder of the grounds are being devoted is a task of no mean difficulty, and its success must principally depend upon the choice and distribution of plants. This part of the work has, however, not as yet been completed, so it would be unfair to base a judgment of the final appearance of the gardens on the present few attractive features which it possesses. The first attempts at embellishing the Italian gardens, undertaken during Mr. Goldring's absence in Europe, has proved an utter failure, and it appears to me very doubtful if complete success can ever be obtained in the dry climate of Baroda. I shall not tire the reader with a description of the bandstand, fountains, and other accessories of the gardens, but restrict my remarks to the principal feature of the gardens, the rock-garden. This includes a water-course of pleasing appearance, a large grotto, a water-fall, &c., and is no doubt a remarkable work, on which large sums and great labour have been expended, and with which no similar work in India can be compared. But to everybody acquainted with Indian rock scenery, or any of the numerous Buddhist caves, it cannot fail to seem more like a beautiful toy, than a work of art, which is the more regrettable as Mr. Goldring has taken infinite pains in obtaining an effective result.

The gardens surrounding the Nussarbagh palace, the former residence of the Court, have undoubtedly been neglected for some years past, but bear evident traces of having been laid out with great taste, and in strict harmony with the palace. If properly kept up, and retained in their original style, the artificiality of which is so prominent in the white marble-paved walks, fountains, and covered walks, and by the predominance of lime-trees in the plantations, they would remain one of the finest specimens of architectural gardening in India.

The public park in Baroda, situated between the native town and the camp, is very extensive (about a hundred acres, I believe) and attractive. The river Vishwamitri winds its course through the park, and is crossed by several more or less ornamental bridges. The steep riverbanks are here and there varied by the presence of an ancient picturesque temple, or by solemn thick groves of shady old tamarind-trees, by clusters of graceful bamboos or bits of babul-jungle, and are almost everywhere thickly studded with clumps of arundo and munj-grass—(Saccharum Sara)—which latter by its graceful feathery silver-like flower-spikes, comes near to rivalling the well-known pampas-grass in beauty. Following the course of the river, many bits of beautiful scenery and objects pleasing to the eye are met with, but at the same time the intelligent observer cannot fail to see what excellent conditions for scenery of far greater beauty and of imposing grandeur present themselves but at present are not made the most of. Another special feature of the park are the numerous clumps of bamboos, of which several kinds are met with. The park is just old enough to have acquired the peculiar attractiveness which old and well-grown shady trees always lend to garden scenery, and contains several fine specimens of trees, many of which are but rarely met with in Indian gardens. I could obtain no information, as to who originally designed the plan of the park, and should the name be known it had better remain unpronounced, as the designer has evidently been totally ignorant of the art and requirements of landscape gardening, and is even perfectly destitute of taste, the principal qualifiition for landscape gardening. The most prominent fault, a fault that too often betrays the hand of amateurs in landscape gardening, is the far too great number of roads and footpaths, the majority of which are perfectly aimless, and too often do not serve any other purpose than to destroy effects which in their absence might be pleasing and attractive. The original plan is defective also with regard to the distribution of plantations, and from the beginning the uneffective treatment of light and shade has been further sinned against by subsequent planting, without any noticeable thinning of the original plantations. The consequence is that the park is at present not much more than a wilderness without character, instead of the beautiful park which the local conditions and the unusual advantage of charming river-scenery are so eminently favourable for creating, and almost seem to claim as a necessity. Great improvements could, however, easily be obtained, and a very few weeks' work with the felling axe, under able supervision, would entirely alter the character of the park and vastly add to its attractiveness and beauty. I understand it is H. H. the Gaekwar's intention to have the park entirely remodelled, as soon as the new gardens, now being laid out, have been completed. The park contains a rather large plant house, of which the chief attractions are a few large palms, among which is an unusually fine and large clump of the cane-palm (Calamus Rotang); but the almost entire absence of ferns, to which plant-houses in Bombay owe their principal charm and beauty, is strikingly felt. The zoological collection, which contains the common kinds of wild animals, as tigers, panthers, lions, bears, besides a few deer, is greatly in need of better accommodation, as will be easily perceived from the fact of the deer being tied up to trees by ropes, but also in this respect improvements are under contemplation. As the able superintendent of the park, Mr. T. M. Henry, was absent on leave during my visit, it would be unfair from the present state of the park to form any opinion as to its general maintenance.

Though not a garden, the Camp must be mentioned as a feature of unusual grandeur and beauty. The "maidan," one of the largest and finest in India, surrounded by beautiful groves of old trees, bears ample evidence of the presence of a masterhand in creating a most perfect picture. The broad avenues, the thick clusters of trees, and the few but wonderfully fine trees scattered over the large open space, present a scenery, the beauty of which could not be obtained except by judicious co-operation with nature, and may, as far as my information goes, be credited to the hand of the late Sir James Outram.

There can be no doubt that Baroda, as regards the extent of its gardens, and the annual expenditure incurred in their maintenance far surpasses any other town in this Presidency. Though the climate is of such a nature as never to allow of that luxuriance in vegetation, which forms the principal attractiveness of Bombay gardens, the gardens in Baroda will, owing to the almost unlimited expenditure on their laying out and maintenance, eventually possess features which never can be dreamt of in Bombay. It is, however, a consolation to know that the specially favourable climatic conditions of Bombay make it possible here to obtain far greater and more impressive effects at a comparatively low expenditure.

KATHIAWAR RACES.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

RAJKOT, Nov. 14.

To-day was the first day of the annual races, which were fixed this year to take place during the visit of the Governor; and although Kathiawar races are usually a success from the excellent horses the Princes and Chiefs can put on the field, it would seem such excellent running as was witnessed to-day has not been seen on the course here for many a day; nor, so, it is said, has the ground ever been grandly as brilliant an assemblage. Nearly all the Princes and Chiefs of Kathiawar now in Junagadh were there; as were also all the guests in camp. It was, indeed, a lively and brilliant spectacle. There were seven races on the card, and nearly all resulted in close and exciting finishes. That his Excellency arrived just when the second race was being run, and after remaining a short time in the grand-stand he went to the stewards' stand, where a better view of the whole course could be obtained, and remained there till the last race was run.

Although the intervals between the races were long, which brought the afternoon's programme to a close fully an hour later than it ought to have, the time was agreeably occupied by a trio of burnt-cork "Niggers," who sang comic and sentimental songs alternately to the accompaniment of banjo and bones. Another diversion was afforded by a young native, who came upon the course upon a beautifully caparisoned but apparently young horse and gave a clever exhibition of horsemanship. When he appeared it seemed at first as if he had lost control of his animal which bucked inordinately. But all fears were soon set at rest, for he sat the horse with a most firm yet easy seat, and finally walked the horse quietly off the course, and now to give a few details of the races.

1st Race.—Pony Plate, Rs. 350.—4 mile.

Rajkot State's b a p Kingsley, Mr Locke	1
Shet Ibrahim Ismail's wh a p Sir Robert, Oomer	2
Shet Thakore's chestnut m Wajan, Native	3
Morvi Thakore's b c b p Runaway, Native	0
Mr Hill's Iron g c b m The Widow, Native	0
Miss Hawes' ches ch m Gem, Native	0

This was a most exciting race to begin with. Kingsley, ridden by Mr. Locke, was the favourite, and great was the exultation when the Rajkot State pony went off with the lead. But there was some anxiety when the corner was turned, and home was neared. Kingsley appeared to be getting collared, but Mr. Locke knew what he was about, and brought his mount in amid great excitement, winning by a good two lengths.

2nd Race.—Bhownugger Cup, Rs. 500—5 furlongs.

Morvi Thakore's b c b filly, Iolanthe, Native	1
Morvi Thakore's b c b gel, Young Hopeful, Native	2
Bhawnuger Thakore's b c b filly, Telegram, Native	3
Rajkot State's b c b gel, Red Buck, Native	0
Mackay's b c b m, Lady Effie, Native	0

This was at once the most exciting, and most amusing, race of the day. To begin with Red Buck refused to go where he was wanted, and went off in the opposite direction, while Lady Effie, managing by some means to get rid of her rider, quietly trolled away home, and was seen no more. But Iolanthe and Young Hopeful made an exciting race. They were almost neck and neck all the way round, sometimes one, sometimes the other having the advantage, nearing the winning post, the excitement grew intense, and from the grand-stand no one could give a decided opinion as to which was the winner. Iolanthe was, however, declared to have got it by a mere hair's breadth.

3rd Race.—H. H. Agakhan's Purse, Rs. 100.—1 mile. H H Aga Jungi Shah's b a h Narrow Escape, Native

Shet Ibrahim Esmail's, gr a h Damascus, Oomer	2
Mr Henderson's b a h Saladin, Native	3
Mr Hardy's b a h Laddie, Native	0

After one false start they got away, Damascus leading about half-away round, however, Narrow Escape went to the front, and eventually won by about two lengths.

4th Race.—The Prince's Plate, Rs. 400.

For all horses, the property of, and ridden by, members past or present of the Rajkumar College. Round the course and a distance.

This was an exciting race, and was won after a hardly ridden race by Prince Utalia.

5th Race.—The Junagad Cup, Rs. 500—6 Furlongs

Capt Thompson's b w g Hector, Mr Locke	1
Shet Ibrahim Ismail's b a h Damascus, Oomer	2
Shet Ibrahim Ismail's gr a h Albert Victor, Dawood	3
Mr W White's, ches w m Galatea, Native	0
Bhownugger Thakore's b c b m Twilight, Native	0
Wadhwan Thakore's b a h Duke, Native	0
Mr Mackay's b c b m Lady Effie, Native	0
Mr Benson's br a h Dundee, Oomer	0
Wadhwan Thakore's ch c b h Butter Cup, Native	0

This was a pretty race. There were nine starters and they went off beautifully together, keeping so for more than half the way. Mr Locke's mount, Hector, was again the favourite, but for some time it looked as if he were going to

I can, as confidently add that the nobleman who has made public the heads of the agreement is not Lord Randolph himself, but one of the negotiators in this complicated and delicate business. A lady, a near relative of Lord Randolph's, was also an active agent in the diplomatic manœuvres, which will have the effect of speedily restoring the noble lord to a position of "less freedom and greater responsibility."

In the course of his speech at the opening of the Villupuram-Chunakul Railway, Lord Connemara thanked Mr. Betts, the agent of the South India Railway, for the excellent luncheon provided. We have, he said, enjoyed it as Englishmen always enjoy anything good in the shape of eating and drinking. To me the mulligatawny was simply admirable, and the leek sent round the table was worthy of all admiration. It must have been prepared specially in honour of the Welshman in the party, my distinguished Private Secretary, Mr. Rees. I have no doubt the leek was a tribute to him for those very picturesque accounts he has given the public of various parts of the Presidency. I hope the leek may also be immortalised in his graceful prose as part of the commemoration of the opening of this railway.

A somewhat startling illustration of the uncertainty still attaching to the reading of Babylonian and Assyrian inscriptions is to be found in the demand made by Mr. T. G. Pinches for the displacement from the Assyrian records of the Flood, as preserved in the Deluge tablets, of the name of Gisdubar, with its variants of Gisdubar, Gisdubarra, and Izdubar. All these forms, as well as the very diverse one of Namrasit, are to be discarded to make room for the form Gilgames as the name of the traditional survivor of the Flood, whether known as the Noah of the Old Testament or the Xisuthrus of Berosus. This rendering claims to be correct and final so far as the Akkadian inscriptions are concerned, and the other forms are merely the results of mistranscriptions or of guesses and nearly baseless theories.

Although Professor Huxley does not feel equal to the task of attending the third annual meeting of the Australasian Association for the Advancement of Science, which is to be held at Christchurch, New Zealand, under the presidency of Sir James Hector, F. R. S., in January next, it appears that the occasion will be an important one, and that the interest aroused in New Zealand and Australia is considerable. Members of the British Association for the Advancement of Science have been specially invited to attend, and the steamship companies offer them return tickets at the greatly reduced rate of £84. The Kaikoura, leaving Plymouth November 15, and the Doric leaving November 29, will arrive in time for the meeting. When the session is over sundry excursions into the interior will be made—one, for example, to the top of Ruapehea; and another to the West Coast Sounds will be accompanied by Captain F. W. Hutton, F. G. S., the local professor of geology.

The new law to compel seminarists to serve for a year in the army as common soldiers has entered into force. A first batch of eighty-seven young seminarists of the order of Saint Lazarus left Paris yesterday, after hearing mass at Saint Sulpice. The ceremony was most impressive. A large crowd had gathered to bid God-speed to the young students, many of whom were in plain clothes. Cardinal Richard, Archbishop of Paris, who officiated, was assisted by several bishops. The Cardinal said:—"We do not wish in the least to hide the sorrow we feel at seeing you removed from the seminary to the barrack, but we say to you—strive with the divine assistance to come out of this trial with renewed strength." He desired the seminarists to look up to Saint Martin of Tours, the son of a Roman veteran who was compelled to serve in the Roman army. He was a model of purity and charity and patience towards his fellow soldiers.

The Gazette Russe announces the recent discovery of large silver mines at the Kouban sources. The land belongs to a mining company, which has ceded the working of it to an engineering specialist, —the same person who established the existence of these mines. He has discovered more than 20 deposits of silver and lead, some of which were worked in olden time, although in a most primitive fashion. An essential feature in the matter is that deposits of coal have been discovered in the same district. Searching examinations have proved the unexampled richness of these mines, and an analysis of the samples extracted has shown that the ore contains a large proportion of metal. The most distant deposits are only 140 versts from the railway, and the roads leading thither are kept in good order, and its current is rapid, which will facilitate the establishment of works.

The interesting series of measurements taken by Dr. E. Baelz of Japanese crania, are supplemented by observations made by Mr. Inouye Yenryo while in the Imperial University, and now published in the columns of the Tensoku. Among 713 students then borne on the roll of the University, Mr. Inouye found fifty-nine whose crania measured 21½ inches in circumference; one hundred and eleven with crania of 21 inches; two hundred and fifteen with crania of 20½ inches; fifty-two with of 19½ inches; and twelve with crania of 19 inches. The heads of the remainder are not classified, but the average of the whole body of students is given as 20·3 inches. Another improvement recently effected is in the reporting line in Japan. A reporting company has been formed under the direction of a clever man of good position, who hopes to raise this branch of journalistic work to a grade worthy of the press.

Every one knows how Rome was saved by certain wakeful inmates of the Capitol, writes a home paper. England, it appears, is equally indebted to a courageous firm of printers. It is not generally known that last week's Whirlwind contained an article of a most treasonable character. It was entitled, we believe, "A Call to Arms." It was an appeal to the young gentlemen of England to don the white cockade and re-seat on the throne of her ancestors the true Queen of England, Mary of Modena, lineal descendant of King Charles I. of blessed memory. Who knows but that by this time the revolution might have been accomplished, and the Queen, a discrowned lady, have embarked on the Calais-Douvres for the hospitable shores of France. Fortunately, the printers of the Whirlwind were also the printers to her present gracious Majesty—long may she reign! They were loyal men, and brave men, too, and they did not hesitate. They declined to print the Whirlwind unless the treasonable article was expunged. The treasonable editors stood firm, and the result was that last week's Whirlwind did not appear. There is an awful rumour that it is coming out this week with a new printer and the old article. If so, we may yet look to see Mr. Herbert Vivian's and Mr. Stuart Erskine's heads frowning—yes, frowning is the word—on Tower-hill in place of sunnily adorning the pages of the Whirlwind. We live in troublous times.

The second most important of the French crops has this year to a great extent failed. A rainy spring, followed by a sunless summer, has contributed to a result, the full effect of which can at last be definitely announced. The deficit in the beet crop is in point of weight 1,500,000 tons, while the density of the roots is reduced from 7 to 6·4. The effect on the sugar trade will be very serious. As every one knows, this industry is largely bolstered up by Government aid. The bounty system has in the end told, and, at this moment, there are as many as 413 factories at work with steam up to 72,000 horse-power, giving employment to an army of 25,000 workmen, among whom some thirty millions of francs are annually distributed. This success, however, is attributable not merely to State aid, but to the combination of that support with a series of unusually favourable harvests. The result has been that what was exceptional got to be looked upon as normal, and this August a law was passed reducing 25 per cent. the bounty awarded to the manufacture of sugar. And now comes the bad harvest. The result will be that the output of sugar—if the phrase be permitted,—will be less this year by 600 millions of pounds. The subject is grave from the point of view of grower and manufacturer, but the trouble does not end there. The returns from the duty levied on sugar made a serious item in the budget of the year, and so the complications extend to the finance of the country.

The first step towards the legal incorporation of the much-talked-of Chemical Union was to have been taken on the 30th ult. by the registration of the company at Somerset House, but it is understood that, owing to some technical difficulty, the registration could not be effected, and that some days will probably elapse before it can be completed. The capital of the company, according to the proof prospectus, is to be eight and a half millions sterling, of which seven millions is set against works, plant, land, and buildings, the balance representing stocks and working capital. Forty-eight of the principal firms, or considerably over 90 per cent. of the whole number engaged in the trade, have joined the union, and the preliminary arrangements contemplated the acquisition of their works on and from Saturday, November 1. The decision to launch the company at a time of stringency in the financial world has created some surprise in commercial circles, particularly as it is understood that a large proportion of the capital is to be offered for public subscription. The formation of the union has already greatly enhanced the prices of chemicals, especially those used in the manufacture of paper, "bleach" having risen from £5 to £6 per ton, and caustic soda from £6 10s. to nearly £11. At the same time the threatened creation of a gigantic monopoly has given an enormous stimulus to the invention of new and more economical processes of production, amongst which is said to be the discovery of a method of utilizing the refuse of the ammonia process for the manufacture of "bleach." The recent discovery of valuable salt deposits at Barrow will also, it is reported, be followed by the formation of a new independent chemical company to compete with the Chemical Union.

FIFTH CRIMINAL SESSIONS.

At the Criminal Sessions of the High Court yesterday, before the Hon. Mr. Justice Bayley and a common jury, Sebastian Fernandez, a Native Christian, was charged with an attempt to commit murder and with voluntarily causing grievous hurt. Mr. Russell, instructed by the Public Prosecutor, appeared for the prosecution; and Mr. Macleod, for the defence. Before the jury was empannelled, Mr. Macleod raised an issue as to the prisoner's insanity.

His Lordship: He has been examined by a medical gentleman who has certified that he is of sound mind.

Mr. Macleod said the prisoner had been under observation by the medical gentleman for two days only, and that the examination was not sufficient. The learned counsel moved for an enquiry on the issue under section 465 of the Code.

His Lordship: Have you got any medical evidence to offer?

Mr. Macleod: No.

His Lordship: If you have no evidence, it would be a mere waste of time.

Mr. Russell: We have got Dr. Crimmin here.

His Lordship: You say he is of unsound mind, but you have no evidence to offer. We will have him tried by the jury, but it would be a mere waste of time.

A PLEA OF INSANITY.

A common jury was then empannelled and sworn to try the issue whether the prisoner was of unsound mind so as to be incapable of making his defence.

Mr. Macleod, in addressing the jury, read a letter written by the Presidency Magistrate on the 15th October last to Dr. Sidney Smith, Police Surgeon, and the latter's reply, dated the 17th October, remarking that Dr. Sidney Smith's observation of the prisoner for three days was totally insufficient for the purpose of proving that the prisoner was not of unsound mind. Dr. Sidney Smith had a large practice, and he had probably had not sufficient opportunity to observe the prisoner's real state of mind.

Mr. Russell: Dr. Sidney Smith is very ill and cannot attend.

Dr. John Crimmin, medical officer in charge of the County Jail, said the prisoners were in jail from the 1st to the 15th October, and witness had him under his observation from the 12th, when he returned to duty on the 15th October. From the 18th October, prisoner was in the trial yard, where witness saw him every morning since, except Sundays and Thursday last. He was suffering from debility and fever, caused, as witness was informed, from excessive alcohol. Witness had not heard of his having any fits. He was perfectly rational when witness went to see him in the morning. Witness did not find him suffering from delirium tremens or any symptoms to show that he was of unsound mind. Witness had heard from his subordinates that it was intended to set up a plea of insanity, and he was therefore careful in putting his questions to him. Excessive drink might unhinge a man's mind.

Cross-examined by Mr. Russell: Witness's examination of the prisoner was with special reference to the plea of insanity that was going to be raised. He always gave rational answers. Witness believed that prisoner was of sufficiently sound mind to take his trial.

Mr. Russell addressed the jury on the plea of insanity; and his Lordship did the same, confining his remarks to the plea of the prisoner's insanity.

The jury found that the prisonor was of sound mind and capable of making his defence. The trial of the charge was then proceeded with before a fresh jury.

THE TRIAL.

Mr. Russell, in addressing the jury, said that the facts of the case were extremely simple. The prisoner was charged with having, on the 23rd August last, cut one Caitan Arrango with a large knife or chopper, and with having voluntarily caused him grievous hurt. It appeared that the accused was a Portuguese musician and was a member of a Portuguese club in Sonapore, in which the complainant Caitan was a cook. They used to take their meals together and had been doing so for many years till in March last, on account of some slight difference about food, they discontinued eating together. On the morning of the 23rd August, the complainant, finding the accused lighting a lamp, remonstrated with him for wasting the club oil unnecessarily. Nothing further occurred. That evening the complainant, on his way downstairs to get a drink of water, seeing the accused, bade him good night. The accused made no reply, but lifting up the chopper produced before the court, struck him a blow over the head, and as he fell down, struck him another blow transversely reaching from the left ear to the eye. The complainant called out; and a Parsee named Postonjee Nusserwanjee, who kept a tea-shop on the ground-floor of the house, ran up, and saw the complainant trying to take the chopper out of the prisoner's hand. Postonjee caught the accused with his arms, and with one hand snatched the chopper out of the prisoner's hand: and it was eventually made over to a policeman. The complainant was removed to the Goculdas Hospital, where the injuries were found by Dr. Hadon to be of a very serious character, which would leave a permanent disfiguration eye. His left ear also suffered one joint of the eighth charged with an attempt to murder; and to find him guilty on that charge, the jury would have to be satisfied that he struck the blow with the intention of causing the complainant's death, or that he did so with the knowledge that he would cause his death. To find him guilty of the charge of voluntarily causing grievous hurt, the jury would have to be satisfied that some permanent disfiguration would ensue or some permanent damage be done to any member of his body.

Evidence was then led for the prosecution.

Mr. Macleod, in addressing the jury on behalf of the prisoner, said the deadly character of the chopper produced before the court was in his favour, for it showed that, had the accused seriously intended to kill the complainant, he would have been able to do so to a certainty. Then, again, the absence of motive was in the prisoner's favour. The fact was that the prisoner was intoxicated, and did not know what he was doing at the time. According to one of the witnesses, when accused was taken upstairs, he actually enquired what had taken place. His mind was really unhinged by drink, and so, when he came to himself after being taken upstairs, he asked what had happened a few minutes previously. The learned counsel submitted that his client had no intention of taking the life of the complainant; and he confidently asked the jury to throw out their charge of attempting to commit murder; and, in taking the other charge into their consideration, to see how far it was extenuated by the peculiar state of the prisoner's mind at the time.

His lordship, in charging the jury, said that the accused and the complainant were residents of the same village in Goa, had known each other for many years in Bombay, and had been taking their meals together. On the morning of the day the offence was committed, the complainant was said to have remonstrated with the accused for wasting the club oil; but the accused said nothing in reply at the time. The same evening, however, as the complainant was going down the staircase of the house, the accused attacked him with the chopper before the Court. It was a most formidable weapon, and the prisoner inflicted with it a formidable wound upon the complainant. Everybody, his lordship said, was presumed to be cognizant of the consequences of his own act; and the prisoner who was not shown to be of unsound mind, must have known what a formidable weapon he was using when he struck the complainant. He was sober on the evening in question, according to the evidence; and he must have known what he was about.

After a short consultation, the jury returned a unanimous verdict of guilty on both charges.

The prisoner said: I bore the complainant no enmity, I was under the influence of liquor. I am very glad he has been saved by Providence, or else I should have been hanged. I am an old man, and I pray for mercy.

His lordship, in passing sentence, said: Sebastian Fernandez, you have been convicted by the jury upon the clearest evidence of a most brutal assault upon the complainant, Caitan; and you have rendered yourself liable to transportation for the term of your natural life. There is one circumstance, however, in your favour, and that is the absence of motive, according to the evidence. The sentence of the court upon you is, that you be transported for ten years.

AN OLD CRIMINAL.

Bappoo Mahadoo, who had pleaded guilty to a charge of theft, was placed at the bar to receive sentence.

His Lordship, in passing sentence upon the prisoner, told him that he had admitted the theft of seven gunny-bags, of the value of ten annas, which a policeman saw him carrying on his back from the direction of Mandavi Bander, about half past 4 o'clock in the morning. Owing to a very wholesome police rule to search persons who are carrying property at such an unreasonable hour, and owing to prisoner's not being able to account for having the bags in his possession, he was given into custody. His lordship regretted to find the prisoner had already been convicted and sentenced six times by the Presidency Magistrate, commencing from May 1881. Those sentences appeared to have had no effect upon him; and as it was necessary to prevent him from any further preying upon honest citizens, the sentence of the Court upon him was that he be transported for ten years.

There being no other case for trial, the Sessions were dissolved.

THE LATE REV. BRAZ FERNANDES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

Sir,—The attention of the executors of the late Rev. Braz Fernandes has been called to a letter, signed by Mr. Michael R. de Quadros, appearing in your issue of the 20th instant. We are instructed to state in reply that the accounts of the administration of the estate of the late Dr. de Silva have been kept with extreme regularity, and every information relating thereto will be readily afforded to any person entitled to ask for it. The charitable object to which the residue of his estate is, under Dr. de Silva's will, applicable is the maintaining of an Anglo-Portuguese School in Bombay. This residue has been strictly applied to that purpose, the late Rev. Braz Fernandez having associated with him several gentlemen of the Portuguese community, between whom and the Rev. Braz Fernandez and the Secretary of State a deed of trust providing for the carrying on of the said School was executed on the 3rd November, 1884.

Dr. de Silva's estate does not amount to rupees three lakhs, or even one-third of that sum, and it is, in the interests of the Portuguese community, much to be desired that neither the East Indian Association nor the Bombay Catholic Union will make inroads upon the funds available, instituting proceedings in Court upon statements and insinuations so vague and untrustworthy as are, we are instructed, those contained in Mr. De Quadros' before-mentioned letter.—Yours, &c.,

ROUGHTON AND BYRNE,
Solicitors to the Executors of the late
Reverend Braz Fernandes.

THE APOTHECARY AND THE GOAT.

James Joseph Braganza, doing duty at Colaba as an apothecary, appeared before the Chief Presidency Magistrate yesterday, in answer to a summons charging him with committing mischief on the 20th instant by killing a goat, valued at Rs. 7. Arjoon Soorpajee, employed as a canteen waiter, the complainant, said that his goat was killed by the accused, who beat it to death with a stick. He found the animal lying dead about ten yards, outside the apothecary's compound.

The Magistrate: Do you plead guilty to the charge?

Accused: Your Worship, this goat has been completely damaging the plants in my compound. I have repeatedly warned the complainant to tie his goat up and not let it into my compound. I beat the animal with a stick on the head; but I did not mean to kill it.

The Magistrate: Your proper remedy would have been to have seized the goat, and sent it to the pound. You had no right to use more force than is necessary for frightening the goat off.

Accused: I could not in any case catch the goat after it damaged my plants. I don't think it is worth Rs. 7, for it was only a small kid. (Laughter.) I have been repeatedly reporting the matter to the Board of Health. It was not my intention to kill the goat; but it accidentally died.

To the Complainant: Who ate the meat of the goat after it died?

Complainant: No one. It was thrown away into a dust bin.

Accused: What was the price of the goat?

Complainant: How can I say that. I bought the mother of the kid for Rs. 10. I did not buy the kid, and so I don't know what the kid is worth. (Laughter.)

The Magistrate: How many kids had the mother?

Complainant: Two, your Worship.

The Magistrate: You said the mother is worth Rs. 10 and it had two kids? Then I should say the kid was worth Rs. 5. (Laughter.)

The case was settled by the apothecary agreeing to pay the complainant Rs. 7 as compensation.

THE CHIN COUNTRY.

A Fort Tregear telegram of Monday says:—The party which left here on the 29th October to explore to the north returned here on the 15th, having thoroughly enjoyed themselves. They describe the country in that direction as far superior to any part of these hills they have seen, and the large upland valley called Vorlaiphai appears to have been made expressly to be the site of the head-quarters of the Field Force. The party were received in the best possible manner, each village giving coolies. Vutai's descendants all submitted, and those Chiefs who could not on account of the distance of their villages reach Captain Shakespear during his short stay in their neighbourhood are coming in here. A good deal of fresh geographical knowledge has been gained, and our hold over the people considerably strengthened. While Captain Shakespear was away all the southern villagers who had previously submitted to him gave a most satisfactory proof of their sincerity by sending in the nine captives taken by them in 1888. This opens the whole of the country between this place and Arrakan. Early in January a party will start to explore the Koladyne right down to the frontier posts of Arrakan.

DUNKLEY'S NEW SUSPENSION PERAMBUCOT.

[PATENTED JULY, 1888.]

PRONOUNCED BY EMINENT MEDICAL MEN AS BEING
The EASIEST CARRIAGE in the WORLD!

THIS drawing only conveys in a faint degree the important and valuable advantage of this machine. It is gracefully suspended on four coiled springs from the sides of the body to the extended handles. Consequently when the Carriage is passing over kerbstones or any rough surface of the least kind, the springs are at once brought into play, and a gentle swinging up-and-down motion occurs. By this motion the most delicate infant receives the cosiest form of nursing and riding combined which the mind can possibly conceive.

The Carriage is also fitted with an entirely new patent canopy, which can be adjusted to any angle. By a simple arrangement it can be placed at either side or either end.

No bitter from the rind, as it acts on the pulp only. Made of glass it is kept clean as easily as a tumbler. Almost instantaneous in action, a child can use it without soiling the hands.

TO USE THE MODERN LEMON JUICE EXTRACTOR—
Set it upon a tumbler as shown in sketch, cut the lemon in half, place the half lemon upon the points and press downwards, slightly twisting it. The ribs easily enter the pulp, and the juice pours down through the openings into the tumbler. The openings are so small that the pips cannot pass.
Once tried it will supersede all old-fashioned appliances. Over a million sold already. Patented in India and all leading countries. It is to be had at most Stores in India. Should you be unable to obtain one, the Proprietor will send one post free to any part of India on receipt of 2s., or 6 for 10/5.

CHASSAING'S Bi-Digestive WINE with Pepsine & Diastase
for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Vomiting, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Consumption, Gastralgia, Loss of Appetite, Constipation.

"This preparation of value is founded upon sound chemical and physiological principles. While pepsine is the natural solvent of digestion for nitrogenous aliments, it has little or no effect upon the feculent constituents which enter so largely into the composition of the food of man; and there is no doubt that some of the disorders of digestion arise from thereof assimilation of the starchy elements. Now the proper digestive for these is diastase; and in the bi-digestive wine, of M. Chassaing, these two most important principles, pepsine and diastase, are combined in suitable proportions." — See THE LANCET, July 27 th, 1872.

ENO'S "FRUIT SALT"

Invaluable to Residents in HOT COUNTRIES.

Is the best Preventive and Cure for

Biliousness.	Sick Headache.
Mental Depression.	Want of Appetite.
Skin Eruptions.	Pimples on the Face.
Constipation.	Vomiting.
Giddiness.	Feverishness.
Thirst, &c.	Unnatural Excitement.
Impure Blood.	Errors in Diet.

Instead of being lowering to the system, ENO'S "FRUIT SALT" is in the highest degree Invigorating, and does not take or get hard in warm and humid Climates.

A SPARKLING AND REFRESHING DRAUGHT.—Notwithstanding its medicinal value, the "FRUIT SALT" must be looked upon as essential as breathing fresh air, or as a simple and safe beverage under ALL CIRCUMSTANCES, and may be taken as a sparkling and refreshing draught in the same way as Lemonade, Soda Water, Potass Water, &c., only it is much cheaper and better, IN EVERY SENSE OF THE TERM, TO AN UNLIMITED EXTENT.

PRESERVING AND RESTORING HEALTH.—ENO'S "FRUIT SALT" acts as simply, yet just as powerfully, on the animal system as sunshine does on the vegetable world. It has a natural action on the organs of digestion, absorption, circulation, respiration, secretion, and excretion, and removes all impurities, and hinders (by natural means) the unnatural and dangerous accumulation of fat. It keeps the body in healthy trim, by preserving and restoring health.

TO PARENTS.—This preparation is invaluable in the nursery as a gentle laxative; it is pleasant to the taste, and much superior to senna or other nauseous drugs; it corrects the ill effects of over-eating or exhaustion, it is extremely beneficial in any feverishness or heat of the skin. The bowels ought to be kept free by the "FRUIT SALT" for a month or six weeks after eruptive diseases, as Measles, Scarlet Fever, Chicken-pox, Small-pox, and all Fevers or Infectious Diseases, &c.; for its use frees the system of the "dregs." Many disastrous results would be avoided by attending to this.

HOT COUNTRIES.—ACIDITY OF THE STOMACH, &c.—"I have personally used ENO'S 'FRUIT SALT,' and know it not alone to be excellent, but really invaluable. Especially must this be the case in the hot countries of the East, where Acidity of the Stomach, Biliousness, and Fevers are so common."—J. M. PEEBLES, M.D., Author of Around the World, Travels in Polynesia, China, India, Arabia, Egypt, &c., &c.

CAUTION.—Legal Rights are protected in every civilised country. Examine each bottle and see that the Capsule is marked ENO'S "FRUIT SALT." Without it you have been imposed on by a WORTHLESS IMITATION. Sold by all Chemists, &c. Prepared only at

LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL

THE PUREST. THE MOST PALATABLE. THE MOST DIGESTIBLE.
THE MOST EFFICACIOUS.

Incontestably proved by Thirty Years' Medical Experience to be
The only Cod Liver Oil which produces the full curative effects in CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST, THROAT AFFECTIONS, GENERAL DEBILITY, DISEASES OF THE SKIN, WASTING DISEASES OF CHILDREN, RICKETS, AND ALL SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

SIR G. DUNCAN GIBB, Bart., M.D.,
Physician to the Westminster Hospital.

"The value of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL as a therapeutic agent in a number of diseases, chiefly of an exhaustive character, has been admitted by the world of medicine; but, in addition, I have found it a remedy of great power in the treatment of many Affections of the Throat and Larynx, especially in Consumption of the latter, where it will sustain life when nothing else fails."

DR. SINCLAIR COGHILL,
Physician to the Royal National Hospital for Consumption, Ventnor.

"I have convinced myself that in Tubercular and the various forms of Strumous Disease, DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL possesses greater therapeutic efficacy than any other Cod Liver Oil with which I am acquainted. It was especially noted, in a large number of cases in which the patients protested they had never been able to retain or digest other Cod Liver Oil, that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL was not only tolerated, but taken readily, and with marked benefit."

JOSEPH J. POPE, Esq., M.R.C.S.,
Late Staff Surgeon, Army, Professor of Hygiene, Birkbeck Institution, London.

"I found during my Indian experience that the worth and character of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL remained unchanged by tropical heat or foreign climate, and it was, from its uniformity of character, particularly adapted for long-continued administration. The value of 'hydro-carbons' in all debilitated states of the system is now becoming thoroughly recognized; and it is, without doubt, from the animal oils and fats, rather than from their vegetable substitutes, that we may hope to derive the surest benefit. The Oil of DR. DE JONGH places in everyone's reach a reliable and valuable remedy, one that cannot be too widely recognised."

DR. R. G. CROFT,
Author of "Handbook for the Nursery."

"DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is almost a specific in many of the Diseases peculiar to Infancy and Childhood, and I have seen marked benefit produced by its use. Patients prefer it to the Pale Oils, and are able to retain it more comfortably."

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is supplied ONLY in IMPERIAL Half-Pints, Pints and Quarts, sealed with BETTS'S Patent Capsule impressed on the top with DR. DE JONGH'S Stamp, and on the side with his Signature, and the Signature of ANSAR, HARFORD & Co.; and bearing under the wrapper a Label with the same Stamp and Signatures.
